Parking Sites Discussed By Chamber of Commerce

Two issues involving parking sites were discussed at the Orinda Chamber of Commerce meeting Tuesday noon at Casa Orinda.

Secretary Clarence Betz informed the meeting that negotiations with the county are proceeding in the matter of rechanneling San Pablo Creek in order to provide parking facilities behind Orinda Village.

The County Public Works Department is considering two plans, one of which would be less costly but which would not alter the creek nor provide parking.

Betz explained to the members an offer by property owner Leon Woolsey of $30,000 for the rechanneling and culverting of the creek. According to county officials, under Plan A there would be sufficient parking area available for improvement for less than the $30,000 figure.

RECOMMENDATIONS were made that one-half acre be filled and compacted by the county for improvement by Woolsey into a parking site.

All the work discussed is to be done in conjunction with construction of the Orinda Bypass this summer.

Horace Breed, parking committee chairman, presented to the meeting a plan providing parking facilities for 300 cars of commuters who board the Greyhound buses at the Orinda Interchange.

Currently, commuters are parking their cars for the day at the Crossroads business district, causing a parking problem for shoppers.

The proposed plan calls for the acquisition of land owned by East Bay Municipal Utility District. The land is next to Pacific Gas and Electric Company towers on the right side of Orinda Highway between Orinda Village and Mt. Diablo Boulevard.

THE PROPERTY is ideal for a parking site, according to Breed. It is unavailable for building and a minimum of grading would be needed to convert it to a parking site.

To facilitate use of the proposed parking area a 300-foot road would be required. The total estimated cost of road improvement and parking area development is $15,250.

In addition, a 50-foot footbridge over San Pablo Creek would be needed. Cost of this feature would be approximately $200, bringing the total estimated cost of the project to $17,250.

Two methods of defraying the costs of the project were offered by Breed:

1) A bond issue paid for by business property owners in the Village and the area south of the Village to Mt. Diablo Boulevard. No home owners would be assessed in this issue.

2) An agreement by business people in Orinda to donate pro rata shares of the cost, saving the cost of a bond issue.

MAINTENANCE costs of the parking facility would be paid for by commuters who used the site, according to Breed.

Breed explained that acquisition of the land is not a problem. ERMUP has buyers interested in the land on the hill above the proposed parking site. Use of the lower land as a parking area would be a benefit at no cost to the new owners.

The parcel planned by the parking committee would be 350 feet long and 150 feet wide.

One of the members questioned the validity of merchants paying for a parking site which would not be of value to them. Since commuters would be using the area, it would be unavailable to customers of the merchants.

BREED, WITH some assistance from other members, explained that the value would come in moving commuters' cars out of the business area, making it easier for shoppers to find parking space in the immediate area of the stores.

In other action by the Chamber, president Merle Brown nominated Ramsay Underwood as chairman of the nominating committee, which will report to the April 16 meeting.

Before adjourning the meeting, Brown set an executive board meeting for 8 p.m. on Tuesday in RUTH RAY has been chosen as the "representative teacher" at Glorietta School. She is a first grade teacher. Games form part of the school-day activity for teacher and pupils. Here, Mrs. Ray is shown with a few of the youngsters in her class.

This Teacher Fulfills Two Responsible Roles in Life

By BOB ROSS

Ruth Ray, the "representative teacher" from Glorietta School is a representative teacher in a very special sense.

In addition to her teaching duties, Mrs. Ray has a very subjective interest in the problems of the elementary school teacher. She is the mother of a young lady who is a pupil in the 6th grade at Orinda School.

Fulfilling the responsibilities of this dual role has given Mrs. Ray deeper insights into the interrelationships of parents and teachers.

Now in her fifth year as teacher at Glorietta, Mrs. Ray has charge of a class of 25 first graders there.

When she was first elected to serve on the teaching staff at Glorietta School in 1952 it was as a substitute teacher for a period of two months.

When the two months was over, Mrs. Ray was offered the opportunity to remain as a permanent member of the teaching staff. The increasing demands for high quality teachers had opened a new position which Orinda School District officials were happy to have filled by such a capable person.

Prior to coming to Orinda, Mrs. Ray spent four years teaching primary grades in Grass Valley schools and one year instructing in a Calistoga school.

In her term of service thus far at Glorietta, this week's representative teacher taught first graders for the first three years, second graders last year, and is once again shepherding a class of first year pupils.

The daughter of a California family, Mrs. Ray was graduated with an A.B. degree from the University of California at Berkeley.

She went east shortly afterward to continue graduate study in New York. As part of her graduate work she did student teaching at a grammar school allied to the graduate teaching school at Columbia.

Her graduate work and degrees have provided her with a full measure of understanding and practice in the teaching profession. Mrs. Ray returned with her family to California to make her home and pursue her chosen career in education.

Like the "representative teachers" who have preceded her in this series of interviews, Mrs. Ray expressed her extremely favorable opinion of the Orinda School District administration.

She feels that the progress being made by the school administration in providing local children with the very best education possible is indicative of the sort of administration which school districts everywhere should emulate. She had high praise to offer for District Superintendent Joseph L. Sheaff and his assistant, Philip Lambert.

Sun Continues Teacher Series In This Issue

The article in this issue on Mrs. Ruth Ray, first grade teacher at Glorietta School, is the second last in the Sun's series on "representative teachers" from Orinda Schools.

The series has tried to familiarize you with people who are exemplary of the men and women with whom Orinda school children spend so much of their time.

The idea has been not to "glamorize" the teachers, but to present an accurate picture of them.

Through this series The Sun hopes to bring a better understanding of the work, hopes and problems of the teaching profession.

The series will conclude next week with an article about Miss Frances Tighe, seventh grade teacher at Pine Grove School.

Her relationships with the parents of her pupils have been following the high pattern of cooperation which each of the teachers in this series has expressed.

Mrs. Ray, of course, has the added advantage of being a parent herself. She is thus able to see both sides of the questions which arise and deal with them in a most efficient fashion.

When the subject of "teaching methods" came up in the interview Mrs. Ray added her voice to the others in stressing the fact that Orinda schools are concerned primarily with teaching fundamentals—the often much-ignored three R's.

The high test grade scores of Orinda school pupils attest to the validity of this approach to teaching.

Mrs. Ray smilingly explained how certain parents were very concerned that their children learn "phonics" properly in the language achievement classwork.

She stated that the recent controversy begun by the book "Why Johnny Can't Read" had seemingly "hit a firecracker" in the matter of teaching methods to the primary age groups.

She explained, too, that her own methods and those of the school district was very concerned with pupils learning "phonics" properly.

However, "each child is different. Some of them don't respond to phonics as quickly as others," she said.

"Some of them simply do not grasp the concept as readily as others," she continued. "It may seem odd to use the term, but the rate of 'maturity' of certain children is naturally slower than others. If you treat them as individuals, however, and guide them without trying to push them past their natural capabilities, they all learn whatever is required of them."

This attractive, blue-eyed young woman is another example of Orinda's good fortune in having the finest quality of person and teacher entrusted with the care of its elementary school children.

With teachers like Ruth Ray on its staff, Orinda School District can offer itself as a "selling point" to potential residents of Orinda.

Certainly no stronger recommendation can be made for a community than that it provides the future leaders of that community an unsurpassed opportunity to develop themselves as mature citizens.

School Bus Hits Garbage Truck

A school bus in which 25 children were traveling to Sleepy Hollow School collided into a parked garbage truck on Sleepy Hollow Lane last Friday morning. No one was hurt, according to the California Highway Patrol.

The youngsters were transferred to another bus of the Acalanes transportation service.

The bus driver, Alex Duncan McKnight, 64, of 906 Hawthorne Drive, Walnut Creek, was cited for not using safety precaution in starting his vehicle. He is scheduled to appear in Walnut Creek Judicial Court April 23.

The driver of the garbage truck was Jeremiah Young, 28, of Berkeley, employed by the Orinda Garbage and Refuse Disposal Service.

The Highway Patrol reported that a Cadillac auto was parked across the street from the garbage truck. Young was not in the truck; he was servicing a home, in front of which the truck was parked, a short distance west of Tarry.

In trying to get through the narrow space between the Cadillac and the garbage truck, McKnight drove the school bus so that it hit the bus, according to the patrol, with the result of minor damage to both the bus and the truck. The school bus was westbound at the time of the accident.

Accident Victim Quickly Solves Hit and Run Case

Rapid sleuth work by one of the victims in a hit and run car accident in Orinda yesterday morning resulted in solution of the case.

Raymond M. Baptista of 7 El Camino Moraga, Orinda, heard the noise of a crash in front of his home at 3:55 a.m. He went out to investigate.

Investigation led to the discovery of damage to his automobile, which was parked in the driveway of 11 Camino Moraga, next door.

Baptista noticed also a tree which had obviously been struck and a trail of water leading from the scene of the accidents.

He followed the water trail to where it ended, at the home of Robert B. Green at 8 Dos Encinas.

Baptista questioned Green, who readily admitted that he was responsible for the accidents, according to Highway Patrol officers.

Green told Baptista that he had left the scene of the accidents without reporting them because it was so late, and had intended to report them later in the day, Thursday, police said.

Green reportedly fell asleep at the wheel of his car while driving home along El Camino Moraga. He was charged with excessive speed for existing conditions and failure to report an accident to unoccupied parked vehicle.

W. P. Strycker Wins Honors at Convent

W. P. Strycker of 112 Ivy Drive, Orinda, was among the sales leaders of International Business Machines Corporation's Oakland office who were recently honored at a three-day convention of the BM Hundred Percent Club, the company's annual sales honor organization.

Class Graduates In Dog Training

Under auspices of the expanded Orinda Recreation Program a five week obedience course for dogs belonging to youngsters from 11 to 16 years of age was completed recently at Pine Grove School.

A new five weeks course for the same age group began at Pine Grove last Saturday.

The response to this program has been excellent. The program serves the two-fold purpose of recreation for the children and training for the animals.

Beginning novice, open and utility courses, a complete dog training program, will continue the balance of its 12 week course and graduate in the latter part of this month.

The costs for these dog training programs, conducted by Mr. and Mrs. Howard Hooper from Highland Dog Training Group, are nominal and the courses are open to all.

County Approves Nursery Rezone

The County Board of Supervisors on Tuesday approved a recommendation by the County Planning Commission that a land use permit be granted Robert Washburn, owner of the Moraga Valley Nursery in Orinda.

Washburn requested permission to expand his existing retail nursery and garden supply office and lath house, which is an existing non-conforming use of property zoned Residential-Agricultural.

The county Board of Adjustment had previously denied Washburn's request, but the planning commission recommendation calls for a condition that all buildings, except those existing, have a 50-foot setback and that only living stock be visible or shown at the front of the property that will not interfere with the normal living in the area.

Reno Man Buys Sacto-Northern Tracks, Wire

New owner of the 16 miles of Sacramento Northern Railway track and trolley wire on the abandoned Oakland to Lafayette run of the railroad is Rupert E. Borden of Reno.

According to Gilbert H. Kneiss, assistant to the president of Western Pacific Railroad, in charge of public relations, Borden, a scrap dealer, purchased the track and other equipment.

Borden's plans were believed by WP officials to be for conversion of the old track and trolley wire to scrap.

Sale by Western Pacific, owner of Sacramento Northern, to Borden was consummated March 28 at the Western Pacific offices in San Francisco, Kneiss' office reported.

Borden came to San Francisco in order to conclude negotiations. Dealings were between him and the purchasing department of Western Pacific. Price was not disclosed.

The 16 miles of Sacramento Northern track from 40th and Shafter, Oakland, to West Lafayette station were abandoned by Western Pacific as of March 1.

AFS Students Will Address Orinda Lions

Speaking before the Orinda Lions Club at the Casa Orinda next Wednesday evening at 7:30 the American Field Service students of Orinda and Lafayette will tell of their experiences before and after coming to this country.

Maria Zorbanou of Greece, Fritz Borst of Germany and Elin Rasmussen of Denmark have almost finished their year of living with American families.

After school ends in June they will return home via a three weeks' cross-country, Greyhound bus trip.

COLLEGE-AGE chaperones are needed for this trip. All their expenses will be paid, including the return trip. Anyone interested may contact the Orinda AFS chairman, Mrs. Sig Groennings, CL 4-2903.

According to Mrs. Groennings, the $650 raised by the community to bring a European student to Orinda covers only half the cost. The remaining half is paid by the student's family, sometimes supplemented by AFS funds in New York. Expenses of the bus trip come out of this total amount.

The bus takes the students to all points of interest, stopping each night so that they can stay at the homes of American families who have volunteered their hospitality.

THIS YEAR 800 AFS students, 35 to a bus, will be covering the country in all directions, ending with two days in Washington, D. C., and an interview with President Eisenhower.

On May 26 a farewell tea is planned for the AFS students and sponsors of the foreign-student program. The Orinda Lions Club has donated $100 toward bringing a student to Miramonte next year.

Try to Legislate Away Objections To Transit Halted

The two-county transit district, passed by voters of Alameda and Contra Costa Counties last year, but later the object of a bitter struggle between Contra Costa lawmakers who claim that the voters were "deceived" and Alameda officials, has gotten onto the floor of the state senate.

The Senate phase has Senator George Miller of Contra Costa trying to block efforts by Alameda Senator Arthur Breed to legislate away any opposition.

A bill introduced by Breed that would have validated the transit district despite objections that there were ballot-counting irregularities in Contra Costa was amended on suggestion by Miller.

The amendment would prevent the Breed bill from affecting a lawsuit filed against the district by a newly-formed Contra Costa Transit Council.

Breed has brought out of committee another bill which would allow the district under litigation to proceed without delay to procure loans or issue bonds without the customary public vote.

Supporters say that the money may be needed to buy out the Key System, due to a threatened transit strike on June 1.

Miller, in consultation with Transit Council attorneys Dean Ormsby and Robert Condon, are expected to be studying this bill this week.

Poet's Tether Lost in Weather

The temperature climbed to 82 before an April week was through.

Some expressed joy, some did not; but joyful or no, Wednesday was hot.

If it continues in warmth this way, what will the weather be like in May?

.53 inches and the rain was done. Bringing the total to 19.31.

Up in the hills and down in the hollows thermometers reported the heat as follows:

Sheriff, Board Meet With Grand Jury

The Contra Costa County Grand Jury is seeking to settle the running feud between the Contra Costa County Board of Supervisors and the Sheriff, Harry Brown.

After hearing both sides of the dispute, the board Monday night in a three and one-half hour session and the Sheriff Wednesday night in a session of similar length, the grand jury considered holding a third session with members of the Sheriff's Department on matters of alleged "low morale" in the department.

John Jagard, undersheriff, stated that he was not at liberty to state what the questions asked the sheriff by the grand jury were.

"The questions were right to the point and the session was conducted in such a manner that every member of the Grand Jury now has a clear picture of the prevailing conditions," stated Jagard.

Asked when an official report might be expected, Jagard said: "I really don't know. It must be in by June 30 since that is the date that this Grand Jury goes out of office."

Jagard said that Brown will meet in person before the Board of Supervisors Tuesday. Jagard was present at the Tuesday meeting of the board representing the sheriff.

Brown was ill with a virus infection, but is reported to be better now.

The matter to be discussed Tuesday with the board is the prison farm rehabilitation program.

The Grand Jury met with the Supervisors Monday night. Exact details of the meeting were not made public. Ivan Goyak, vice chairman of the board and acting chairman for the evening, said that the grand jury wanted to know the basis for the supervisors' reports of low morale in the sheriff's department.

Philip Bancroft Jr., foreman, stated that the jury would not make a statement at this time. He indicated if the feud is either ended or patched up the grand jury may dismiss making a report to the board of supervisors.

The sessions were unprecedented in the history of Contra Costa. They were first brought about when the Board of Supervisors called in the Grand Jury and asked for inquiry on the continuing difference between the board and the sheriff.

The board claimed that such differences cause concern among the citizens for the efficiency of their county government. Jagard commented to The Sun: "I really can't tell you what was going on in the chambers, but, I can say . . . It was mighty warm!"

Attempt Reported

Dr. R. F. Marks complained to police last Friday that someone had tried to break into his office at 1806 Bonanza Street, while he was inside. Officers are investigating.

Architect Firm Given Job for Inland Valley

An important agenda occupied the Orinda School District Board of Trustees' meeting at Pine Grove School on Monday night.

Roland Coad of the Acalanes High School transportation office appeared before the board and presented them with a financial problem which has arisen recently over the bus service for Orinda school children.

Until recently the transportation office had been parking the school buses in a privately owned lot across Orinda Highway from the Orinda School. A fee was paid to the property owner for use of the land, and a watchman had been retained to protect the vehicles at night.

Earlier this year it was decided to save the rental and watchman cost by moving the buses to Miramonte High School parking lot. Result of this move has been a large increase in the dead mileage which the buses travel in their routes to pick up and drop off children.

Coad recommended that the pick up and drop off schedule be revised to take care of the dead mileage. The board agreed. So, on or about April 23 an entirely new schedule will be put into effect.

Parents of the pupils will be notified in advance of the new schedule, which will not affect school hours but will substantially change the hours of pick up and drop off.

Those children now being picked up first will be picked up last, and those being dropped off last will be dropped off first.

The new schedule is expected to result in a large saving of money for the school district.

The board elected five new teachers to the district for the 1957-58 school year.

After ironing out two technicalities, the board signed a contract with the firm of Anderson and Simmonds, Architects, for preparation of plans for the new Inland Valley School.

Appointment of an auditor was set aside until the May meeting. A Berkeley firm has been auditing district books for the past four years. This year, however, a local auditor asked to be considered for the job. He has not as yet submitted his proposal to the district, so the board set aside the appointment to give the local auditor time to prepare his proposal.

In other action, the board accepted with great enthusiasm and pleasure work done by Keith Burnham, a teacher at Del Rey School, in compilation of a comprehensive listing of all policies established by the school district in the last ten years.

The Burnham report listed all the policy matters on the left hand side of the pages, leaving ample room on the right side for revisions or additions to current policy in time to come.

Burnham compiled the work as a portion of his graduate study work in school administration. The board members asked Superintendent Joseph L. Sheaff to compile a statement on the philosophy of educational policy currently in force in the school district.

Superintendent Sheaff announced just prior to adjournment that current enrollment of the Orinda School District is 2478 pupils.

DeMaeyer Is on Parking Board

Leighton DeMaeyer was appointed by the County Board of Supervisors Tuesday to the Orinda Parking Authority.

The appointment was made on recommendation of Supervisor Vel Nielsen, to whom Chairman Horace Breed of the Orinda Parking District had written a letter suggesting DeMaeyer.

DeMaeyer will serve the unexpired portion of a three-year term which started last August, when Standish Massie left the parking district board.

As named when the parking district was first formed, Breed will serve on the district board until next August, and Ewart Phair will serve until August, 1958. Massie's term expired last August.

After expiration of the term of each of the original members of the parking district board, the next term is to be for three years.

Golf was a disconcerting game in India

HIGHLIGHTS GARNERED by phone from the Paul Staffords, who just returned from London, Paris, Rome and 10 days in Calcutta.

MOST THRILLING OF EXPERIENCES . . . When Virginia had a few words and a "special blessing for America" from Pope Pius XII, whose "hand touched hers, light as a flower petal."

MORE ABOUT TRIP . . . Over a bout of bridge w/sari-garbed ladies in Calcutta, Virginia met a stateside friend of her Orinda neighbor Marilyn Hampton, and Lady Gandhi was the MOST gracious of women at a coffee party there. Playing golf in India was more than slightly disconcerting with the Brahmin cows grazing the greens, and Virginia was cautious lest she bop one of the sacred animals w/a golf ball.

SMALL WORLD! When a lady tourist from Piedmont seated next to her on the Versailles Bus Tour, mentioned Ferndale and a few families she knew — "Not Paul Stafford?" said the lady casually. "THAT'S MY husband!" said Virginia, NOT so casually, to the lady, who, it was discovered, had known Mr. S. since he was a small boy!

IF YOU ARE LOOKING FOR an unusual gift for an expectant mother Who Has Everything (and SOME DO!), look what we came across, in our browsing . . . Favorites of Gershwin, Cole Porter, and Rodgers & Hart pooled into one 12-inch LP record titled "Music for Expectant Mothers" (ABC-Paramount $3.98). Record was inspired by an OB's advice that mothers-to-be spend an hour a day listening to relaxing music, and music hath charms, soothes the savage, etcetera, you know!

No sharps, or flats, he cries on key!

LATEST RELEASE . . . There's a new kind of music in the air at the BelAir Dr. home of the Walt Jamonds, the kind of music that sets them scurrying for the bottlewarmer at 2 o'clock in the morning . . . The early A.M. soloist being Michael Thomas, brand new son, born to the couple on March 10.

The Jamonds moved to Orinda last summer and Walt, who puts his son's singing in the "Mood Music" category, has his own Disc-Jockey Show, daily 10-3, over KROW, 960 on your dial, and wouldn't you know it? He presented HIS wife w/ the aforementioned record more than several months ago!

The Charles Kerstens' SIXTH child, third son, arrived March 24, making it an even-steve number of girls and boys in the family.

THE DRAMATEURS' MELODRAMA, "High Ground," had its own melodramatic FINIS following the March 22 performance at the Berkeley Little Theater. Berkeleyans may STILL be wondering if it was an apparition they saw sprinting up and down the streets nearby.

STILL COSTUMED and under heavy stage make-up, it was really only Charlotte Chapelle trying to track down her young son Geotly, who had taken off on limber legs for the car without waiting for his Grandfather whose legs are NOT so limber and who has a faculty for forgetting WHERE he parked the automobile.

Since no one knew in just which direction the Very Young Man had gone, it was almost half-an-hour later when a breathless Charlotte came upon the car w/her 6-year-old son sitting patiently therein. And back at the Berkeley Little Theater, the rest of the cast were ready to call out the cops!

They've grown accustomed to this place!

AT THE ST. PAT'S PARTY recently at the Oak Springs Clubhouse honoring Dorothy Adie (as new Orinda Assoc. Board member) and Ted Sawyer (as outgoing board rep), white cord corsages were presented to Dorothy and to Ted's spouse Dede, who, along w/her husband, was congratulated on their new family addition. His name is Frederick Alan, after his father, and he occupies the new nursery in their new home in Moraga.

ANOTHER GROUP PARTIED at Oak Springs last Friday night when Orinda Democrats sparked their social evening w/a talk by Lou Lazaroff, who made a tour of southeastern Asia last fall.

COCKTAILS were served to about 100 guests at 7 p.m., and dinner followed an hour later in the warm pine-paneled setting of the clubhouse . . . Tables decorated by Ellen Kroff w/ the springtime touch of carnations from the garden of the Bud Leibers.

The Forrest Hills, just back a short time ago from DC, NOW w/the news they'll leave Orinda for good, regretfully, in a mid-summer move to Buffalo.

CORNER CONVERSATION for Eleanor and Jack Hubner chatting w/Kay and Gene Peterson . . . The James Benneys, Charles Hanks . . . new pres. elect of Orinda Democratic Women Cathy Lateral, there w/her husband Phil . . . In from WC, Pat and Tony Silva, SHE, the new pres. of CCO. Fed. of Dem. Clubs.

On Saturday the Fourth Annual Acalanes Adult Center Demonstration Exhibit was held at Acalanes High . . . "Art in Action" featured an exhibit of 101 custom braided rugs by the students of Frances and Walter Holst . . . Some of the rugs valued at over $1000 — and a collection unparalleled in this part of the country.

LOCAL LADIES w/heirloom entries included Martha Court-right's 9x12 oval rug, Doris Bablon's hit 'n miss model, Margaret Fische's 4x6 modern pastel, Carote Hillyard's 5x7 provincial heart rug, Maxine Christiansen's colorful 6' circular and a 4x6 braided beauty in rainbow pastels by Irma Marrow.

TAKING THE PRESIDENTIAL exams recently for entry to the US Naval Academy was Jim McLaren, son of Capt. and Mrs. Kenneth McLaren of Camino Lenada . . . McLaren returned to classes at Acalanes this week to finish his senior term after two mos. at DREWS in SF.

When Johnny Davison, son of the Jim Davisons of Los Conejos, won the Pine Grove speaking contest (subject: School Pride), his fellow students, mighty proud (it couldn't happen to a nicer fellow!), lifted him high on their shoulders to carry him from the auditorium. Johnny's name to be inscribed on a plaque to hang in his Hall of Learning, where, someday, he envisioned his grandchildren will see it there!

BRAVOS TO "BRIGADOON" as presented last wknd. by the Acalanes Music Dept. Lady commented she enjoyed it MORE than when she saw it professionally played in New York; QUITE a compliment!

LOUD APPLAUSE for the Library Mothers, the ladies who staff our school libraries. Join in a thank-you to them at next Wed. morning's meeting of the Mothers Club, Giorietta School, 10 a.m., when the well-known children's author Howard Pease, a Menlo Park suburbanite, will address the assemblage. Red Cross Here Needs $1000 To Reach Goal

As the 1957 Red Cross door-to-door campaign drew toward a close this week in the Orinda-Moraga-Rheem area, Campaign Chairman Robeson E. Smith announced that with final returns still incomplete it appeared that the area would be within $1000 of its $7350 goal.

President Eisenhower, in his Wednesday news conference, noted that this year the American Red Cross appeal for funds is lagging badly on a national basis, even though the drain on disaster funds of the organization have been greatest in history in the past year, Robeson said.

The President made a special appeal to all citizens to support the Red Cross now. As the one organization established by congressional act to undertake these specific duties in our nation, the American Red Cross must have adequate funds to carry on its broad programs, and the traditional American way is by membership contributions of all the people.

SMITH ANNOUNCED that the campaign would not end in Orinda until every effort has been made to reach its quota.

"Our neighborhood workers have done a magnificent job," he stated, "in the face of bad weather and the competitive appeals of many other worthy causes. They deserve the special thanks of all the community for this magnificent volunteer effort."

Smith noted, however, that in spite of many "go backs" it is often difficult to find all residents at home. He appealed to all such residents to phone CL 4-2916 or to send their checks, made out to American Red Cross, to him at 70 Estates Drive, Orinda.

"WE ARE PROUD to say that the Orinda-Moraga-Rheem area is far ahead of the other campaign areas in the county," he concluded, "with Moraga-Rheem actually well over the top for its local quota. The one section that lagged badly, due to difficulty of terrain and other problems of accessibility, is the El Toyonal hill area," he noted.

He made a special appeal to residents of this area to call or send in their contributions now. If this area comes through with its fair share of the Orinda total, Orinda will go over the top, he stated.

In other areas a continuing effort will be made to reach residents by phone who have not been previously contacted.

Again Smith reminded Orindans that the Mt. Diablo Chapter of the Red Cross does not participate in any United Crusade funds and must support all local activities from local volunteer contributions.

Tunnel Inn Fire Calls Temporary Halt in Service

Overheated grease spilled on a stove in the kitchen of Jay Bedsworth's Tunnel Inn, ignited other grease in the flue above the stove and caused a fire yesterday evening at 6:30 which temporarily halted service to customers at the Mt. Diablo Boulevard restaurant.

Fire Marshal Robert Winkel and Assistant Fire Chief Elwin Maxey of the Lafayette Fire Department had Bedsworth suspend service at the restaurant until they could be certain that the fire had not spread from the vent area into the space between the ceiling and the roof of the rear portion of the building.

The flames caused the vent on the roof of the restaurant to be blown off, and clouds of white smoke poured skyward.

Fire Marshal Winkel, who lives not far from the scene of the fire saw the smoke from his house and was on his way to investigate when the sirens of the Fire Department signaled the emergency.

Beer, Cigarette Tax Bills Get Trustee Talk

Three controversial bills before the state legislature which would give the Walnut Creek School District from $95,000 to $105,000 more revenue per year were looked over by school trustees Monday night.

But members agreed with their colleague, Mrs. Shirley Madsen, who said, "I would like to know more about this before going on record."

One bill would increase the state apportionments to the schools, probably by some $70 millions, another would levy a three cent tax on each pack of cigarettes and the third would revise the tax on a gallon of beer from two to 10 cents to create the added revenue.

STORMY discussions on the state and local levels have resulted. While the trustees didn't question the virtue of additional funds from the state which might mean a 30 cent tax break, they were not so sure about the means of raising the money.

Member Alex Lindsay presented the fast of the situation, and related how Governor Goodwin Knight had told the California Teachers' Association that would not sign a money bill where there was no provision for the necessary income. In this case, the provisions are in separate bills.

A factor is that the extra money would go not only for equalization benefiting the "poorer" districts of the state, like Walnut Creek, but also for raising the "basic aid" which has been $120 per pupil per year. This means that the "rich" districts would also benefit.

In the proposals a stipulation that the minimum salary of the teacher be raised from $3400 to $4200.

TRUSTEE HARMON Howard commented that, "I don't feel I want to set the salary for any other district."

He added, "I'm not sure we should take responsibility for telling the legislature where to get funds—that's a legislative function."

Other business included a report by Lindsey on his committee on teachers' salaries. His group had met with members of the teachers' group and heard proposals.

"The time isn't ripe to go into more detail, but I can say that it was a very pleasant discussion," he said.

Three Students Cited by Police On Theft Charge

Three high school students from this area have been cited by Contra Costa Sheriff's Department on burglary charges arising from the theft of $90 worth of liquor from a Lafayette home.

Two of the three youths are students at Miramonte High School in Orinda, the other attends Acalanes High School in Lafayette.

The boys, ages 15, 16 and 17, are scheduled to appear with their parents before juvenile authorities on Thursday, according to sheriff's detectives Louis Skuse, John Kirschner and Walt Trawick.

The three boys have admitted stealing 16 bottles of liquor from a shed belonging to Wilber H. Hughes of 3961 South Peardale Drive in Lafayette. Apparently the hiding place of the key to the shed was known to the culprits, the detectives said.

In their investigation of the theft, the three police officers spent several hours Wednesday questioning some dozen possible suspects at various schools. They were also concerned with other recent burglaries along Tunnel Strip.

Dogs Frighten Children at Bus

Two great Dane dogs which mothers have complained have been frightening boys and girls catching the bus at Seven Hills Ranch Road and Walnut Boulevard, have been hunted by police officers — but with cameras, not guns.

Officer Bud Volz has tried several times to catch the dogs in the act of annoying the youngsters, but so far without avail.

Mrs. Patricia Annis and other mothers have told officers that the dogs have caused consternation especially among the little girls who fear the loud barking. The picture taking is to record the problem for later enforcement procedures.

BB Guns Are Nuisance

Irresponsible boys with BB guns have accounted for hundreds of dollars in property damage in recent months, Walnut Creek Police Chief Leigh Brilliant said this week.

Brilliant said that there is a heavy fine and possibility of detention for any persons under 16 years of age who handles a pellet-shooting gun in public without adult supervision and control.

Village Cleaners At New Location

A 10th anniversary and a Grand reopening are being celebrated by Ernest and Lola Poll, owners of the Village Cleaners in Orinda. The 10th anniversary is that of their establishment in Orinda in 1947, as the first tenants in the Woolsey Building.

The Grand Reopening is that of the Village Cleaners at its new location at 83 Orinda Highway, next to Wright's Village Pharmacy. The new Village Cleaners location was formerly occupied by Al Bear's Village Shoe Shop, which has moved to the new Village Shopping Center.

THE VILLAGE CLEANERS at its new place has double the space the shop formerly had, with reorganized service for cleaning, laundry, tailoring alterations, reweaving and dress designing.

The Grand Reopening is today, and it ushers in a four-day special feature — the giving away of a silver dollar for each $5 cleaning order today, tomorrow, Monday and Tuesday.

Another anniversary is also being observed by Mr. and Mrs. Poll — the fourth anniversary tomorrow of their becoming American citizens. The Polls came here from Vienna, Austria, in 1947. They live on Camino Sobrante.

IN THEIR NEW Village Cleaners quarters they will continue the personalized service for which they are well-known, the Polls point out. They will give their usual attention to details — and the friendliness of their shop, "where the coffee pot is always on," will be kept up. One of their specials is overnight rush service.

Lola was formerly in the fashion department of Maison-Messolite at the St. Francis Hotel in San Francisco. She is an expert dressmaker and designer and, of course, does that work at the Village Cleaners, where she also does alterations of women's clothes.

Ernest is a qualified tailor and cleaner, and does the alterations for men's and boys' clothing. He is a former president of the Orinda Chamber of Commerce and a member of the Orinda Rotary Club.

Both he and Lola are active in the Orinda Community Church and in the American Field Service student exchange program.

Fellow Members Talk To Rotary

Local Rotarians heard brief speeches from three of their fellow members at the club's meeting Wednesday noon at Orinda Willows.

The program chairman, Frank Isola, introduced Jack Buchter, architect; Jim Kral, investment broker; and Maynard Buehler, gun sight manufacturer.

The three speakers all spoke on their own experiences in their respective fields and described how they came to establish themselves in those professions.

Kiwanians to Hear Talk on Nike Station

The Kiwanis Club of San Ramon Valley will hold a meeting Monday night at the Danville Hotel. Walt Wilson will preside.

Captain J. Curran of B Battery 441 Missile Battalion, the Nike Station, will be the guest speaker. He will present a colored film showing how a battery is organized and trained and will cover the preparation and making of guided missiles.

At the meeting April 15 at 7 p.m. guest speaker will be Officer Lee P. Wood, traffic safety and education department of the California Highway Patrol.

A film entitled "Motor Mania" produced by Walt Disney will be shown.

Rapid Transit Gets OK from Senate

The California Senate Transportation committee approved the formation of a four county Bay Area Rapid Transit District Tuesday in Sacramento.

Proposal for the formation of the district was made by Robert McCarthy of San Francisco. Donald Cleary of San Francisco suggested that the formation of the district be delayed, but the committee voted unanimously for the district.

The counties involved in the district are Marin, San Francisco, Alameda and Contra Costa. San Mateo and Santa Clara Counties have asked to be excluded from the district.

In the original plan Solano, Napa and Sonoma counties were also to be included in the formation of a nine-county rapid transit district.

Heaton Will Report on Parks

County Planning Director Thomas G. Heaton will report to the Board of Supervisors next Tuesday on the parks planning project of the county, Miss Mary A. Smith, assistant clerk of the board, stated yesterday.

He said that Heaton had told her he would make this report. At the request of the supervisors, she had checked on the matter with Heaton, following receipt by the board of a letter from John D. Kemper of Orinda.

In his letter Kemper had asked that the board take action to preserve the Moraga redwood area, either through its inclusion in the Regional Park System or as a state park.

Realtors Week is Noted; High Standards Prevail

The Contra Costa County Real Estate Board will conclude its observance of Realtor Week, tomorrow, joining hundreds of similar boards across the country in presenting to the public the high aims and obligation of Realtors. J. H. Carter, Board president, announced today.

Carter explained that Realtors are those real estate brokers who have taken on the duty of providing individual and community services beyond the call of ordinary commerce.

HERE IS BASIS

These obligations — immensely important to the persons dealing with and through Realtors — arise from the Realtor's membership in the local board and in the National Association of Real Estate Boards, he said. And, only be membership in these bodies may a broker use the terms Realtor.

Carter added: "In joining the local and national Realtor organizations, the incoming broker member pledges himself to act in accord with the Realtor's strict code of ethics which is based upon the Golden Rule and embodies these words: 'Whatsoever ye would that men should do unto you, even so do ye also unto them.'"

"The standards of this code are higher than those set forth in state license laws, and the local board is empowered to see to it that its members live up to its provisions. Those cited for violation of the code's terms face loss of membership.

LARGER SCOPE

"Realtors throughout the country are recognized as a group who work closely with all citizens for the betterment of their communities," Carter said.

"Realtors have distinguished themselves not merely because of their adherence to a strict code of ethics that enables the public to place the utmost confidence in them in business transactions, but because as an organized group they have been able to understand and work toward a solution of problems peculiar to their individual communities.

"To qualify for membership in the local and national organizations, a Realtor must have proven competence, and in joining he pledges himself to maintain and improve his knowledge of real estate for the benefit of his clients and the community," Carter said.

On the Job When Needed, Red Cross Needs Your Help

"Join and Serve" is the plea of Red Cross volunteers this week as hundreds of workers continue their drive for funds throughout the Mt. Diablo Chapter area.

To support Red Cross programs during the coming year a goal of $20,000 has been set by the local committee.

"Red Cross is an organization of people helping people," Eldo T. Ewert, Chapter chairman, said. He pointed out that Mt. Diablo Chapter is not a part of the United Crusade and depends entirely upon contributions from local residents for its continued activities.

"The Red Cross' role in time of disaster is well known, as expressed by the current campaign slogan 'On the Job When it Counts.'"

Comfort and cheer for hospitalized servicemen and assistance to their families in need is another year-round responsibility assumed by Red Cross.

Throughout the year classes are offered to the public free of charge in home nursing, baby care, water safety and first aid.

All school bus drivers are required by law to complete first aid, and it is no less important that each household have at least one member trained in first aid, particularly if there are children in the home.

"Red Cross is an indispensable part of our communities, and we feel confident the current fund drive will go 'over the top,' insuring continued Red Cross services for the coming year.

Although every effort is being made to contact each resident personally, anyone who has not been reached is urged to mail his contribution to Mt. Diablo Chapter, American Red Cross, 1395 Ygnacio Avenue, Walnut Creek."

Acalanes Trustees View New Methods of Economy

Acalanes High School trustees in a special meeting Monday directed the district architect and Stanford University consultants to determine the most economic, efficient school plan for future district construction.

Authorization of the study does not mean a change of construction policy, but rather an investigation of "how little construction the District can get by on without hurting the schools' education program," trustees said.

Pressed by "rising costs and increased enrollments that demand additional school housing," the study calls for a survey of space, arrangement, utility and essential facilities with attention to special parts of the school program — such as home economics, science instruction, industrial arts, music and other curriculum area — "considering their value in the total education program of the school in the light of the investment required."

Trustees also suggested that the architect and Stanford consultants report on basic minimal facilities for a gym and locker set up; the school's responsibilities for, and investment in hot lunch service; analyzing minimal service required; minimal provisions for music, shop and science rooms; open space administrative facilities (minimal space, no partitions as in bank offices); and the reduction of other facilities to a minimal level, including storage, light and heating.

District Superintendent Neil M. Parsons pointed out that all three of the existing high school plants (Miramonte, Acalanes, Las Lomas) have been built with an "eye to utility and economy, but that stringent district finances require a continued investigation of economies for future construction."

"The District is interested in any real economy that can be achieved without impairing educational standards, as opposed to false economies in construction that later take their toll in maintenance requirements, or inefficient use," Mrs. Alice McBride, Board Chairman stated.

Results of the architect-Stanford consultant study will be considered in the construction of the next District high school plant planned for Tice Valley, and subsequent school plants required after that.

Realtors Oppose 6500 Acres for Park Purposes

The Contra Costa Real Estate Board opposes the proposed acquisition by the county of 6500 acres of land about the San Pablo reservoir for park purposes.

Jesse (Nick) Carter, president of the board, said that the members feel that since the area is close to metropolitan centers, it should be reserved for residential development.

Carter said, "The Board recognizes the need for the development of a park program for Contra Costa County, but is of the opinion that properties that best lend themselves to residential and industrial development should be excluded from the program.

"The Board also believes that all proposals for park development should be carefully analyzed from the standpoint of their impact upon the tax structure of the county.

"The Board further believes that in the best interest of the people of the county, future park developments should be distributed so that they will better serve the people in all of the various geographic divisions within the county and not be concentrated in the western section."

Realtors Laud Dissemination of Buying News

Tribute to the local newspapers and radio and television stations which have played a vital role in the healthy growth of home ownership was paid today by the Contra Costa County Real Estate Board.

As one of the highlights of Realtor Week being observed throughout the country, this has been designated Home Ownership-Public Information day. J. H. Carter, president of the board, announced.

"Nationally, six of every 10 non-farm families now own their own homes," Carter said.

In 1940, only 41 per cent of the non-farm population owned homes, and in 1950, this ratio was 54 per cent. In the light of these figures, it seems clear that home ownership is a cherished goal of the American people.

"Great credit is due to the press, radio, and television for their stimulation of interest in ownership. Several decades ago there were only a very few newspapers having real estate pages and sections devoted to home living, home improvement, and home care.

"Now, most newspapers and many magazines devote sizeable amounts of space to realty and home developments, a valuable service to the public.

"Unquestionably, this growing coverage of homes — of the dwellings themselves and of the things that make them more attractive and livable — has helped increase public interest in home ownership and our neighbors' steady move into homes of their own.

"This movement, in turn, is strengthening the sinews of citizenship by producing larger and larger numbers of those who have actual stakes in their country.

"SOME OF THE most important news to prospective home buyers in recent years has been the easing in credit terms for home purchases.

"This trend has been faithfully reported generally and is one illustration of how the public has been informed of home buying opportunities by the press, radio, and television.

"All such work is hailed by Realtors, who are dedicated to widening the opportunities of real property ownership. We heartily urge our newspapers and radio and television stations to continue this splendid home news program.

"Realtors — promise our wholehearted cooperation in this effort of news media to keep all informed."

Aubudon Group Plans Field Trip

A meeting of the Mt. Diablo Audubon Society was held yesterday in Room 201, Las Lomas High School, Walnut Creek.

William Goodall, western representative of the National Audubon Society was guest speaker. His subject was Audubon matters in California. He also showed a film, "Conservation and Birdlife of Ohio."

On Sunday the Society will make a field trip to Redwood Regional Park. The meeting place will be in the Thomas J. Roberts area, off Skyline Boulevard. Alex Lindsay, president of the local Junior Museum Association, and Mr. Paul Covel, ranger-naturalist of the Oakland Park Department, with headquarters at Lake Merritt, will be trip leaders.

Grodins Opens Modern Store

Grodins-Valley Fair, another new store in the rapidly expanding East Bay Area, opened its doors yesterday. This store, located in San Jose, features better known nationally advertised brands and the warm, friendly service for which Grodins is famous.

According to Arnold Michaels, President of Grodins of California, the new store has been designed by Burke, Kohlen and Nicolaus, nationally prominent store designing firms of Los Angeles.

It is arranged and decorated to take full advantage of the 15,000 square feet of selling space. The latest merchandise layout planning techniques are incorporated in the design to make use of the "open-plan" method of store layout. This technique places major emphasis on pre-selection, self-selection, and the use of colors to provide a background for the merchandise.

Among the members enjoying the afternoon were: Mesdames Phillip Lathrop, Frank Wright, John Goldeen, Wallace Edwards, Russell Gilwee, Robert Bigler, Ben Randall, Channing Kilburn, Gordon Schmidt, Dwight Chapman, John Barkley, Warren Dexter, Kirk Miles and Richard Copenhagen.

Local Dealers Will Hold Spring Auto Show

Scheduled for April 2 and 27 is a Spring Auto Show, sponsored by the auto dealers of Lafayette, Walnut Creek and Pleasant Hill. The event will be held in the parking lot of Capwell's in Walnut Creek.

Hours of display will be 1 to 8 p.m. Friday, April 26, and 9:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Saturday, April 27.

Originally the event had been scheduled for this weekend.

THE GENERAL PUBLIC is invited to the April 26-27 Spring Auto Show, and there will be no admission charge.

Each participating dealer will display current models of cars. Among the expected entries in the show are privately-owned sports cars as well as foreign and domestic models from the dealers.

A special feature will be the appearance of two world-record breaking "dragsters." These little hand-made cars are designed to race on "drag strips" over a short course from a standing start. The "flying quarter mile" event is very popular with the owner-builder of the "dragsters," and one of the two cars which will be on display at the auto show recently was timed at over 100 miles per hour within a quarter mile of a standing start.

THE UNIQUE DESIGN of these racers, plus the rebuilding of the engines, usually Chryslers, affords a view of craftsmanship in automotive design and engine construction that is rarely matched in the mass production field.

The "dragsters" will be on display throughout the two days of the show, and there will be someone in attendance on the cars to supply information as to construction, costs, performance factors and design.

Other officers are Ken Richardson, in charge of research, Ted Schrieber, in charge of relations with development associations. Committeemen have said that there may be some new avenues towards during new industries into this area.

A source of concern is that many new plants have been located in the Fremont area, and along the coast, while the neglected central county has ideal climate, sufficient area and accessibility to transportation.

Candidates File For Boards; May 17 is Election

Contests for school board member in the election May 17 have developed in two additional districts as the result of recent filings, County Superintendent B. O. Wilson said today.

Mrs. Gladys P. Martin of 1398 Rachel Road, San Pablo, has declared her candidacy for the board of Pinole-Hercules Union Elementary District. Incumbent Carl Ferrell of 638 El Centro Road, El Sobrante, had filed previously.

A three-way contest exists for two positions on the John Swett Union High School board. Frank D. Paoconi of 8 Ralph Park Drive, Crockett, has entered the race against incumbents Jack Merchant and Paul G. Thomas, both of Crockett.

In the Antioch-Live Oak Unified District, a third candidate has filed for an already contested board post — Lynn R. Wilson of 509 Putnam Street. Other candidates are Lloyd Miller of 100 Russell Drive and Dr. Forrest E. Lane of 207 7th Street. Incumbent Blair Spires has not filed.

Incumbents Richard Lewis and Robert F. Mygrant and Nick Papadakis are candidates for the two offices to be filled on the board of the Byron Union District.

In Martinez area Mrs. Phyllis Wainwright, incumbent, 1254 Ward Street, is the fourth candidate for one of two offices. Others are incumbent Lester B. Small and William A. Weinstock and Donald B. Finch.

Another recent filing is that of Incumbent Dominic Cola, R.F.D. Box 193, Martinez for the Vine Hill Elementary School board.

Realtors Launch Drive for New Industry in Area

A meeting of real estate brokers was held last week towards establishment of a "Council of Industrial Realtors."

Purpose is to bring more industry into the county, and to develop the "know how" necessary for the sale of industrial sites to interested parties.

Realtors with experience in that field will be members.

R. E. Wadsworth of Orinda will be president.

Other officers are Ken Richardson, in charge of research, Ted Schrieber, in charge of relations with development associations.

Committeemen have said that there may be some new avenues towards during new industries into this area.

A source of concern is that many new plants have been located in the Fremont area, and along the coast, while the neglected central county has ideal climate, sufficient area and accessibility to transportation.

Enthusiasm Rising for 1957 Cancer Campaign

The 1957 campaign of the American Cancer Society is now in full swing and gathering momentum fast, according to Guy Spencer, county campaign chairman.

In reviewing the progress of the campaign, Dr. A. D. Reinke, president of the Contra Costa County branch of the American Cancer Society said, "Never has enthusiasm been so high among our volunteers and area chairmen."

"This year, with 7000 volunteers throughout the county preparing for our drive, we fully expect to reach our goal of $50,000 for the county. Our aim is to have every local community reach its quota toward this goal."

"We are confident that this will be achieved to enable the Cancer Society to make strides in the battle against cancer."

Under the direction of Guy Spencer, volunteers will go from door to door distributing informational materials about cancer and soliciting support for the American Cancer Society's year round programs of research, education and community service.

The date for the concentrated drive has been set for April 30, according to Spencer. The volunteers will go out from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. that evening, he said.

Recruiting of workers for the mammoth drive began in the early part of March and is still going on.

Community chairmen who are organizing volunteers for the local campaigns include Mrs. Forest Hill of Orinda, Mrs. Julian Stern of Lafayette, Mrs. Ernest J. Marchi of Walnut Creek, Charles Reed of Alamo, Dr. Roy Garanson of Danville, Mrs. Mary Cavazza of Concord, Mrs. Earl Malone of Gregory Gardens, Mrs. John G. Beard of Martinez, Mrs. James O. Cobb of Pacheco, Mrs. Gene Pleau of Pleasant Hill.

Spencer explained that 40 cents of every dollar raised here by the American Cancer Society is used to fight cancer in Contra Costa County.

"Normally 60 per cent of all funds raised would remain in California," he continued. "However, because so much important research is being done in California universities and hospitals, more than 92 per cent of what we raise remains in this state. The balance goes into national programs of cancer control."

Chairman Spencer added, "The only public appeal for funds by the Cancer Society is under the April campaign. The Contra Costa County branch of the Society is not affiliated with any joint fund drive in the county."

"A contribution to the fight against cancer is an investment in human life," he commented. "Research and education programs are making it possible to save more lives from cancer each year."

TRAFFIC DEATHS Traffic fatalities in California during 1956 totaled 3804, reports the California State Automobile Association.

Student Aides

Meet and Talk

With Author

Nineteen budding Orinda librarians last Saturday boarded a bus for Stanford to take part in an all-day conference on books and libraries.

The occasion was the third annual meeting of the Student Librarians' Assistants of Northern California, who have nicknamed themselves "SLANC."

During the day the students met and heard author Howard Pease, whose talk on "What's Behind the Book" was a high point of the program.

They also took part in section meetings for elementary and junior high school students featuring student panels and quiz contests.

"Slanc" sponsored by the School Library Association of Northern California, was organized two years ago to give recognition to student library helpers and to broaden their knowledge of librarianship.

Orinda students were charter members and sent the largest delegation to the first conference, held at U.C. in 1955.

Since then the number of schools participating has grown rapidly, and last Saturday Stanford University and the Palo Alto School District were hosts to more than 700 student delegates, according to Mrs. Alvin Frederick, Orinda School librarian.

Working with Mrs. Frederick in arranging the trip were Miss Mary Crawford, Pine Grove School librarian, who joined her in accompanying the students, and Mrs. Avram Ledidia, library chairman of the Orinda Mothers Club.

Orinda students participating were Stan Silva, Marian Neff, Linda Lindsay, Lance Chilton, Sally Farnum, Donna Thornton, Barbara Bergen, Dave Stillson, Ronny Parks, Sharon Nelson, Kathy Darby, all of Pine Grove School; Claudia Powell of Orinda School; Sally Koehner and Terrell Cunningham of Sleepy Hollow School; Betty Lou Leibert of Carol Mansson of Groggietta School; Ann Ivanetich, Peggy Moore, and Katy Jones of Del Rey School.

Reception Will Honor Noted Bishop-Elect

The famed Bishop-elect Harold W. Henry of Kwangju, Korea, on his way to Boston to be consecrated, will be honored Sunday at a small reception at the home of Mrs. Gertrude Walker, 3322 Walnut Lane, Lafayette. Mrs. Walker is renewing a friendship begun in Tokyo.

The bishop is one of the youngest members of the Roman Catholic Hierarchy in the world. He has been widely written of for his work in founding leprosantries, hospitals and orphanages in Korea. The latest author to write at length of him is Douglas Hyde in his book, "One Front Across the World."

The bishop also served for 30 months in combat areas as Army chaplain in Europe during World War II.

Mrs. Walker has invited other church dignitaries, University of California faculty members, artists of the San Francisco Symphony and others.

After a few months in the states, Bishop Henry will return to Korea, where he heads a diocese of 3,500,000 population with 25,000 Catholics and 7000 catechumens, staffed by 40 priests, 30 of whom are Columbians, the order to which Bishop Henry belongs.

He is the first American-born Columbian to be named a bishop.

Local Musicians Set for Concert

Five young Orinda musicians will perform Sunday afternoon in an Easter concert at 4 o'clock in the Berkeley High School Auditorium.

The concert, jointly sponsored by the Berkeley Recreation Department and public schools, is open to the public without charge.

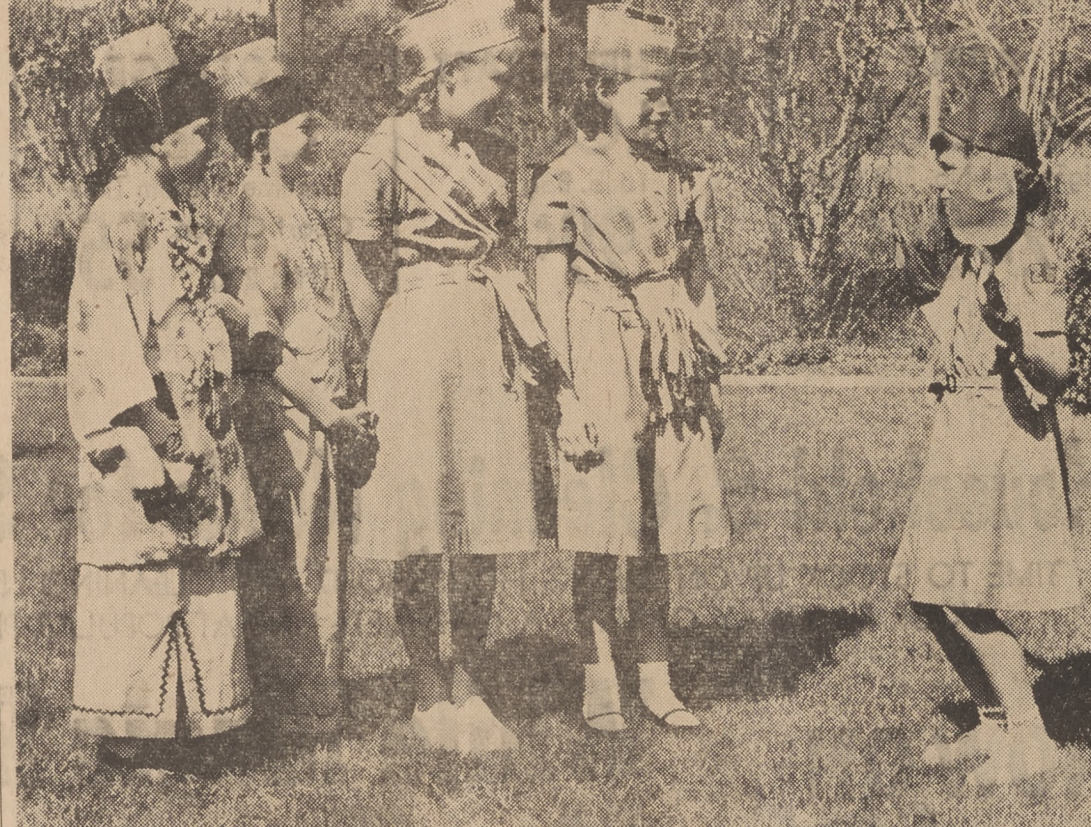

The five local youngsters are all members of the Young People's Symphony Orchestra, an East Bay group which for twenty years has met twice a week to play symphonic music under the direction of Mrs. Jessica Marcell.

In addition to the orchestra, whose numbers will include the Russian Easter Overture by Rimsky-Korsakov, Sunday's concert will feature a liturgy by cantor Simon G. Cohen, and Easter music by the Berkeley High School capella choir.

Orindians participating are Miramonte freshmen Norita Jones, violin; Bob Newman, trombone; Jeff Neighor, bass viol; Mario Guarnieri, trumpet; and eighth-grader Tom Brooks, clarinet.

"WITH A SONG in my heart" might describe these members of the Lafayette-Orinda Soroptimists who dressed up to indicate the titles of well-known songs at a recent meeting. The girls and their songs are, left to right, seated, Ola Waldie, "School Days," Eleanor Christensen, "Banana Boat," standing, Frances Jendes, "Tiger Rag," Edna Bedsworth, "Sleepy Time Gal," and Alma Blakesley, "Trees."

Lafayette Couple Appear On Nationwide TV Program

A Lafayette housewife received a pleasant surprise recently when she was invited to appear as a contestant on a nationwide television program.

The recipient of the surprise was Mrs. Max W. Shields of 3791 Highland Road, Lafayette.

Mrs. Shields was telephoned by the producers of "Truth or Consequences" and asked to participate in the filming of the program which was later broadcast coast to coast from Hollywood.

TO ADD to the enjoyment the TV program had arranged for Mr. Shields to appear on the program also, but he was unaware that his wife was there, too.

National Broadcasting Company officials, in cooperation with Mr. Shields' employers, Albers Milling Company of Oakland, arranged for Shields to be sent to Hollywood on "business matters" for the day. This was not difficult, as Shields is sales manager for Albers.

Once in Hollywood, Shields was informed that his firm's public relations department had arranged "guest tickets" to watch the filming of the TV program.

At the NBC studios, Shields "just happened to be chosen" to appear on the program as a contestant.

HIS "STUNT" was evolved from an interview with "Truth or Consequences" master of ceremonies Bob Barker, concerning Shields' traveling. "Do you enjoy traveling alone?" Do you enjoy a good time when you're alone on the road?" "Do you always tell your wife the truth when you phone her long distance?"

At this point Barker asked Shields to place a "long distance" call to Mrs. Shields and conduct a conversation with her while an electric train ran around a track in front of him. Each time the train passed the stop station, Shields was to say, "Toot! Toot!"

It was his problem to explain these outbursts logically to Mrs. Shields without giving away his location and situation.

All during the telephone call, of course, Mrs. Shields was in another part of the studio, unbeknownst to her husband. She was fully aware of what Shields was doing and added to the fun by badgering him about the "Toots" and asking him where he was.

The "long distance" call was completed by Mrs. Shields saying, "I'm going to come down there and bring you home."

Whereupon she walked out onto the stage to confront her flabbergasted husband.

THE COUPLE, for their good sportsmanship, was awarded gifts of perfume and a three-piece set of matched luggage. In addition, NBC paid all their expenses, flying them to Hollywood and back, taking them out for dinner and lodging them for a night at the Knickerbocker Hotel.

The Shields were doubly glad for the trip, because it provided them with the opportunity to visit with Mr. Shields' mother, Mrs. C. C. Shields, and Mrs. Shields' parents, the H. B. Bemis, all of

Unification of School District Brings Hot Talk

Can school districts on their own effect unification—combine elementary and high school under one district—without recommendation first by the county committee on school district organization?

Protests against the proposed unification of the Richmond Elementary District area voiced from an audience of 150 at a public hearing conducted by the Contra Costa County Committee on School District Organization in the Hall of Records Tuesday.

Question is whether the area itself may proceed with unification plans or must await a recommendation by the committee, which functions under state law.

County Superintendent B. O. Wilson was directed by the committee, of which he is ex-officio secretary, to request the district attorney's office to ask for a ruling by the attorney general.

Protests arose from the fact that the Richmond Elementary District unification proposal has been singled out for favorable newspaper comment from among several proposals considered by the committee.

The proposal is opposed by residents of school districts outside the Richmond Elementary District on the basis that the periphery area would be left without sufficient high school buildings or financial resources.

All but one high school and one junior high school building now serving West Contra Costa are located within the area of the Richmond Elementary District.

The county committee also went on record as "strongly opposing" two senate bills, SB 507, which would make unification of school districts mandatory in California, and SB 401, establishing an advisory committee of professional educators to assist the county committee, which is comprised largely of school district board members.

The committee accepted "with regret," the resignation of Mrs. Shirley Madsen, 1521 Brooks Street, Walnut Creek, a member of the board since 1955, and appointed as her successor Mrs. Charles F. B. Price Jr., 173 Arlene Drive, Walnut Creek, to serve out the unexpired term to 1959.

Civil Defense Graduates 33

Thirty-three people from the Lafayette area completed an eight hour course in basic civil defense on Wednesday evening, March 27.

The classes were held at the Lafayette School under the adult education program and the County Office of Civil Defense and Disaster, with Kenneth Bailey of the Acaleses High School Faculty as instructor.

Although the course was sponsored by the Lafayette Junior Suburban Women's Club, Mrs. Eleanor Spillane, CD chairman, said the general public was invited to participate.

Certificates of completion of the course were presented to: Anne M. Beales, Orton and Frances B. Bergren, Lee R. Blake, Jean W. Bondurant, Robert Brattain, Rachel L. Chandler, Gwen J. Clapper, Leota Currier, Margaret A. Curtis T. Farrell, Marilyn Gravelle, Carolyn S. Greene, Helen J. Hawkins, No-rene J. Jensen, Vern F. and Jeanette Kaufman, Gertrude H. Kesler, Dorothy W. Lundquist, Nancy Magrath, Margaret H. Nealon, Cecilia E. Neff, Barbara J. Penitence, Esther M. Perella, Max W. and Jane Shields, Eleanor M. Soder, Florence Spillane, Barbara J. Stevens, Claire V. Vacco, Mary Wardough, Margaret H. Williams and Frances L. Zurilgen.

AAUW Schedules Bridge Session

The Orinda branch of the American Association of University Women has scheduled a bridge session for Tuesday at 12:30, which will take place at the home of Mrs. G. H. Stratos, 7 Abbott Court.

The contemporary problems section will be received at 8 p.m. the same day at the home of Mrs. Carl R. Moore, 221 Overhill Road, Philip Baskirk of San Jose, community relations secretary for the American Friends Service Committee, will speak on "Pioneering in Community Relations."

On Thursday the travel group will see Mrs. James Dent's films from a recent Caribbean cruise, 10 a.m., at the home of Mrs. F. G. Cook, 9 Meadow Park Court.

The Orchard Nursery will be the meeting place for a talk on basic mechanics of flower arranging to be given to the art section by John W. Lawrence, who formerly taught at City College of San Francisco. This group will gather at 1 p.m., Thursday.

Rheem-Moraga Sun

By EVA THUNE, DR 6-5593

LOVELY SPRING! Trees in bloom, warm sunshine, balmy breezes (?) blowing.

All this adds up to thoughts of gardening and that always present necessity to pull weeds.

Plenty of sore muscles and difficulty in walking. Speaking for myself, of course.

TWO ADDITIONS

Two new happy additions to our rapidly growing community, in a week's time. On March 27 the Fredrick Thomas Fakourys made a trip to the Peralta Hospital in Oakland, to welcome a new son, Fredrick Thomas Jr., who weighed 5 pounds, 15 ounces.

At home on Rheem Boulevard, son Stephen, 5½, and daughter, Darlen, 4, happily welcomed mother and new brother Monday.

A new little daughter, Cary (second name undecided), weight 7 pounds, 7 ounces, was a welcome joy to parents, Tim and Doris Frazer, of Moraga Road, but she will always have a lot of kidding about the date of her birth, April 1.

Sister Glen Maura, 14 months, will be able to attend by her grandmothers, first Mrs. Marie Frazer of Pt. Richmond, then Mrs. Betty Macdonnell, who arrived from Fresno the middle of this week.

BIRTHDAYS

A neighborhood birthday party was held in honor of Bill Wood, Rheem Boulevard, on Sunday, March 31. Bill, whose birthday was actually on Friday, was out of town at the time, so celebrating was postponed.

A surprise birthday party was given Mrs. Bettie Clark, wife of Jack Clark (Clark's Market), when a large group of friends and family gathered at the Clarks' home last week. I've been told it was a real surprise and everyone enjoyed the party.

It is my pleasure to announce on behalf of Chairmen Marion Devin and Adele Pimentel that the Red Cross drive in the Rheem-Moraga-Canyon area was a tremendous success and that we went "way over the top of our aim."

Each Brownie had prepared a postcard to mail and was able to see preparation of mail to be sent.

Regular meeting of the Moraga Junior Horsemen's Association is this Thursday night at the Moraga School.

Word was received early this week by Art Gaspari, fireman at the local firehouse, of the death of his father, Felix Gaspari, chief of police of Santa City, Calif., who died suddenly Tuesday of a heart attack.

Our sympathies are extended to the family.

Price of Bypass Raised to $9 Millions; Bidding Soon

The California Highway Commission last week allocated an additional $1,340,000 for the Walnut Creek bypass, raising the cost of the project which will take heavy commercial traffic out of the downtown area, to some $9 millions.

The increase was due to the rising cost of materials and labor, and also to the completion of the details.

Cliff Birnie, a senior highway engineer, said that bids may be called for in April, and the work should be completed in two and a half years, or late 1959.

THERE ARE still about 15 percent of the right-of-way acquisitions still not complete, but Birnie said that they could be taken care of in a short time.

Contracts for the entire project will be let simultaneously. This will include a north leg, a south leg and a west "leg" all joined at a giant three-level interchange at the intersection of Mt. Diablo Boulevard and Oakland Boulevard.

The work will continue through the winter, with structures off the ground getting most of the attention during the wet months.

The north leg will connect the interchange with the north edge of the city, at a smaller interchange north of Stan's Brick House.

THE SOUTH leg will connect the interchange with South Main Street about a mile from the downtown area.

The west leg will run from the interchange west to the Pleasant Hill interchange.

The new highways will be 2.4 miles long. The west leg will have six lanes, with right-of-way for eight; the north and south legs will have four lanes, with right-of-way for six.

Smaller interchanges will be at Crest Avenue, on South Main, at Newell Avenue at South Main, at Hillside Avenue near Oakland Avenue and at El Cerrito Boulevard, east of Pleasant Hill Road.

Total allocation for the work is $8,840,000, but it is expected that bids to be submitted will involve a lower total cost.

WALNUT CREEK leaders have not been content with the state project alone, and have passed a $2-million bond issue for the improvement of local streets.

The city council will meet on April 10, and perhaps at that time final right-of-way negotiations will be complete for the interior street system.

Indications are that work on the Little Master Plan will also begin the near future, probably this summer. The initial phases are expected to be in the eastern part of town.

Biggest single undertaking there is the culverting of the Walnut Creek channel and creation of a roadway.

The completion of the little Master Plan will probably take from 18 months to two years.

The money comes from the sale of bonds to Taylor and Company of Beverly Hills.

YOU CAN GO FISHING ON MOVING DAY!

2. Be prepared to list the dates of the child's immunizations.

With the Old Stow Home Will Go Many Memories

When a famous old home like that of the Stow family at 1651 Lilac Drive is destroyed, a thousand dreams and a thousand memories which are a part of early Walnut Creek will go with it.

But many of the old timers will still remember Jim Stow, who came here as a boy a century ago, supported his widowed mother from the time he was nine years old, served as county supervisor for 20 years, during that time built his home of solid redwood, and in it raised 10 children.

Elderly Mrs. May G. Stow remembers. Her husband, Rufus, who died three years ago, was one of those boys.

SHE HAS HEARD the telling and retelling of the mischievous pranks which a half dozen brothers loved to play within the walls of the old Stow home.

How Jim Stow's wife, Alice, was born a few weeks after a long trip across the plains to California, and stories of the hardships of that journey which caused the death of Alice's mother are still vivid to her.

Alice Stone, whose family name was given to the Stone Valley Road. The Stones, too, were among the earliest settlers and held much land.

May Stow told The Sun this week, "The Stows have lived in that home for 80 years, and Rufus and I raised our own family and lived there for 35 years. It just doesn't seem possible that they are going to tear it down."

"RUFUS' FATHER was supervisor for 20 years, and he really worked hard to get the first tunnel built through the mountain leading out here."

"He even had his boys help with the labor, after they decided to go ahead."

"Harry was another one of the sons who romped in the old home. He became a county supervisor too, and was right on hand when they started the second, in 1937, I think it was. A couple of men were killed in the work, and that made Harry and everyone feel pretty bad."

"But I like to think of the stories Rufus would tell of how the boys would leave toys and things where the cook coming in late at night would kick them, making a lot of noise."

"SHE WAS ALWAYS trying hard to be real quiet, so that always gave the young ones a laugh. Just in fun, you know!"

Before May Stow and Rufus moved into the big house 40 years ago, after Jim's death, they traveled from Vallejo to the Panama Canal to New Orleans, while Rufus worked as an estimator and planner for shipping firms.

But May's first of two boys was born while the couple were living in Walnut Creek.

In fact, his first cries were heard in a house which was once across from the Las Palmas Hotel, and next to the Cameron's blacksmith shop.

THE CAMERONS rented the house. Well known descendant of that family is Elmer Cameron.

Mrs. Stow said "I hope you don't mind my rambling on like this. The Stows were and still are proud of their family, and their part in the history of this area."

"There are still two of the Stow boys living. One is Russell, a farmer in Salano County, and the other is Armand, a retired Pittsburgh bank cashier."

The old Stow home has been condemned for by the State Division of Highways for the routing of the south leg of the Walnut Creek bypass.

Its destruction may take place within a few weeks.

Orindans Escape Nevada 'Bandits'

The Wallace Neighbors and the William Ingrams returned to Orinda last week from a three-day sojourn, not only calling Las Vegas by its nickname but bearing a renewed distrust of the cold-blooded slot-machine.

Flying down for a weekend stay at the Desert Inn, the two couples also visited several clubs on the famous strip, with a special approving nod at Dennis Day's show.

Even though their winnings were less than zero, the four-some left "Vegas" undaunted, and were given a spirited welcome by their offspring, Jeff, Nell and Fred Neighbor, and Alyson and Andy Ingram. Both families live on La Cintilla.

300 See Show Of Fashions At Miramonte

Three hundred Miramonte High school girls and their mothers attended the recent Orinda high school Vogue Fashion Show staged by the homemaking department in the school's auditorium.

Fashions highlighted were described as "dresses that could be arranged in different manners to fit the season of the year—spring, summer or early fall."

Miss Susanne Stout of the Vogue Pattern Service acted as master of ceremonies and commented on the various patterns displayed.

Mrs. Daisey Raymond, Miramonte's home economics instructor, states, "Many of the girls have ordered many patterns that they plan to make at home or at school."

Miramonte models were Kathie Shurtleff, Barbara Champion, Noel Jones, Kathy Tesman, Lorna Loram, Judy Courtright, Karen Smith, Nan Dame, Raean Fuller, Mary Gardiner, Sue Jensen, Ann Frederickson, Bonnie Miner, Diane Traverso, Katy Baker, Judy Nicolaysen, Vicki McCosker and Linda Rivers.

Those who helped behind the scenes included Michele Angelo, Judy Hopkins, Susan Hightower, Carol March, Debbie Smith, Sally Scott, Irene Waschmirth, Michele Harter, Susan Henrys, Carolyn Cook, Carolyn Cullen, Betty Dutra, Janice Twining.

3 More Crimes Occur in Orinda

Three more minor burglaries, or attempts at burglary, were reported by the Sheriff's office over the last week.

Two of the burglaries took place on Saturday night, according to the officials.

An empty dwelling at 250 Moraga Highway in Orinda belonging to Richard C. Lake of Oakland was entered through a kitchen window and a television set valued at $150 was taken, police said.

A bloodstained flashlight was found on the scene, and police are running tests on it in an effort to make identification of the owner.

Saturday night's second victim was Mrs. Elizabeth F. Mauvais, whose home at 8 Sanborn Road in Orinda was entered while Mrs. Mauvais was vacationing in Los Angeles.

Deputies said that Mrs. Mauvais' grandson, Michael Wilmar of Moraga, had been keeping an eye on the house.

The contents of a metal security box, including papers and checks, were scattered about. The box was smashed by dropping it out of a window, according to police.

Mrs. Mauvais found nothing missing, however, on return from her vacation Monday.

The third burglary occurred at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Woods at 115 Spring Road in Orinda.

The crime was committed in broad daylight between the hours of 8:15 a.m. and 4:15 p.m. on Tuesday while the family was away from home. Mrs. Woods teaches fourth grade at Orinda School.

The thief apparently found the key to the kitchen door, which the Woods had hidden, and entered the house.

The leash of the Woods' dog had been cut, and the family pet was running around loose, but the family reported nothing missing from the house and the interior of the house intact.

Howard Pease Will Address Mothers Club

Howard Pease, one of the most popular authors among today's young people, next Wednesday will share some of his unprinted adventures with Orinda mothers.

His talk will highlight the April meeting of the Orinda Mothers Club, scheduled for 10 a.m. in the Glorietta School all-purpose room.

Wednesday's meeting, focusing on the subject of libraries and books, will pay tribute to the scores of Orinda mothers who every week give many hours of their time in staffing the school libraries.

Without the generous help of these women, the Mothers Club library program could have made very little headway, according to Mrs. Avram Yedidia and Mrs. Victor Kingston, library chairmen.

A report on funds for new library books from the Mothers Club recent "Aladdin Ball" will also be presented.

In addition to the talk by Pease, whose books include such favorites as "Jinx Ship" and "Secret Cargo," the program will feature a "Book Court" staged by pupils from Mr. Jack Clark's fifth-grade class at Sleepy Hollow School. Mothers of Sleepy Hollow pupils will serve as hostesses.

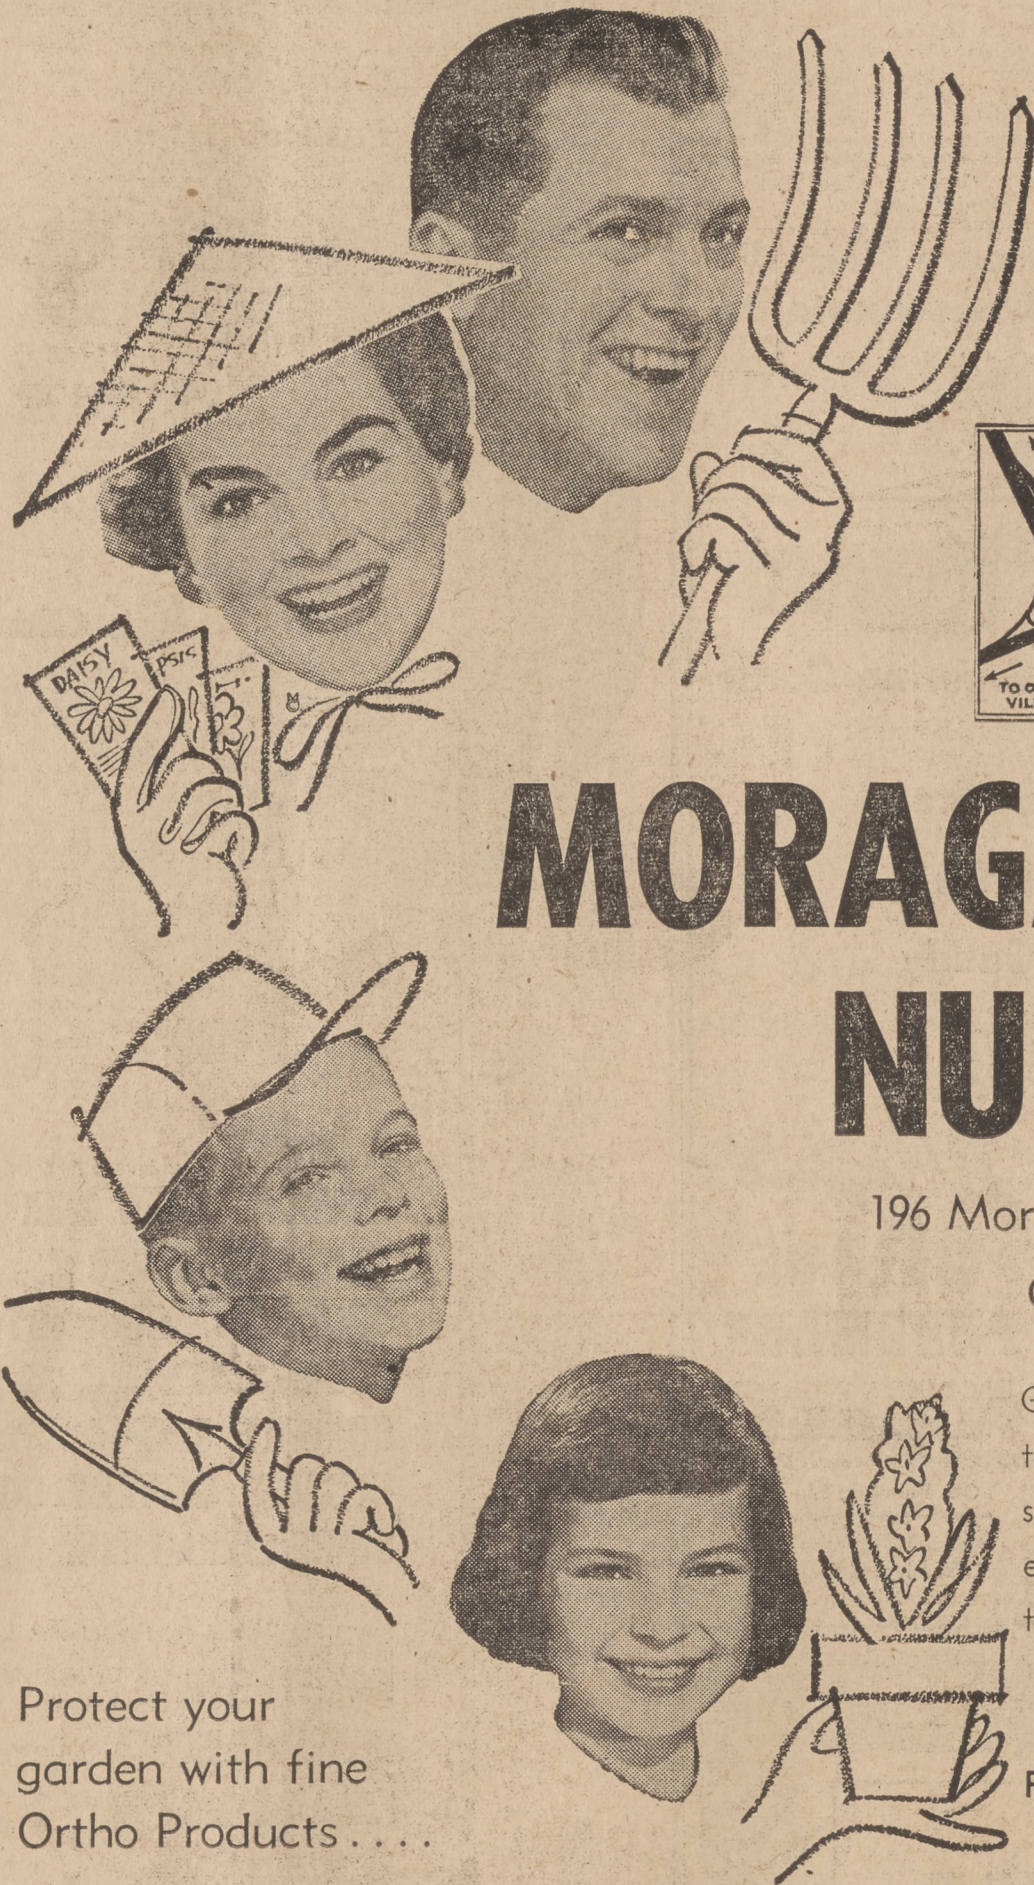

Election of next year's officers will also be held, according to president Mrs. Charles Erickson, who emphasized the fact that this meeting is scheduled on Wednesday morning instead of the customary Tuesday, and one week earlier than the usual meeting day.

The nominating committee, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Richard Wagner, will propose the following nominees:

President, Mrs. James Irwin; vice-president, Mrs. Frank Shirley; corresponding secretary, Mrs. William Wood; recording secretary, Mrs. George Bregar; treasurer, Mrs. Stanley Humm. Candidates for these offices will be elected at Wednesday's meeting.

Coordinators for the five schools will be elected later by written ballot, to be sent to all Orinda mothers. Nominees for the five coordinator posts are:

Orinda School, Mrs. Charles Hanks; Mrs. Robert Magill; Sleepy Hollow, Mrs. Douglas Manuel; Mrs. Rudolf Grah; Glorietta, Mrs. Victor Kingston; Mrs. R. I. Copenhagen; Del Rey, Mrs. Howard Dauphine; Mrs. Thomas Kling; Pine Grove, Mrs. Charles Eaton; Mrs. H. C. Gath-

Lily of Valley -- Quaint, Popular

Quaint and old fashioned as it is, the Lily of the Valley (Convallaria majalis) is nevertheless a popular flower in California gardens and it can be grown in a number of interesting ways.

Lily of the Valley bulbs or pips are attractive when planted in garden beds in mass or as border flowers; the Lily is also charming in scattered drifts along a garden walk.

As a carpet planting between Camellias and Rhododendrons, the Lily is ideal since it requires the same garden conditions.

THE LILY of the Valley blooms in early spring with ball-shaped flowers of white or pinkish white on stems rising from two basal leaves.

The fragrant flowers are tiny and the stems only 6 to 8 inches high.

A rampant grower, the Lily may easily push its way into the roots of nearby flowers; therefore, it is a good idea to plant it in restricted quarters.

A TUB OR PAN set into the ground will protect other small flowers nearby.

Plant the pips in rich soil with lots of leaf mold or peat in it.

Because the Lily grows so abundantly, it is a good idea to open up the beds, remove surplus plants and refertilize the ground so that the remaining plants will grow bigger.

Spread a top dressing of rotted leaf mold, peat moss or well-rotted manure each year.

In thinning out the Lily bed, pick out several of the largest buds at the ends of the plant roots.

Lawns Are Fed To Stay Green

Lawns are fed to make them stay green.

Grass is peculiar stuff: it grows not from the tips but from the bases.

To keep a lawn shining green you must have plenty of new growth — it's the newest grass that's greenest. And you must mow off the old grass, the tips.

This is why we feed — to make the grass grow enough so we can snip off the tired, dulled tips and restore a fresh green color to the whole lawn.

Mowing is like a haircut: the bald man with only a fringe around the ears needs a trim just as often as the long-haired maestro.

If the lawn isn't neat, out comes the mower.

'3-in-a-Hole' Planting Means Fruit Tree Variety

By THE GARDENER

FIGURATIVELY SPEAKING, gardeners can now kill three birds with one stone. Or rather, horticulturally speaking, they can enjoy three kinds of fruit at three different times from three different trees growing as one.

"Three-in-a-Hole" planting is the way it's done, say the California Association of Nurserymen.

You place three trees in one hole, spaced about 18 inches apart in a triangular planting.

THIS SYSTEM not only solves the average gardener's problem of insufficient space to plant all the fruit trees he wants, but also results in a progression of fruit all summer long.

In selecting fruit trees to be combined, the gardener has relatively free rein, since he can choose from any of the fruit varieties available.

However, nurserymen caution gardeners to consider size and form of growth, foliage patterns and the time each fruit will ripen, for best results.

CERTAIN PEACH and nectarine varieties go well together, for example, since their foliage and growth pattern is similar. Indeed, a good example of a three-in-one planting would be Gold Dust Peach, Elberta Peach and Freedom Nectarine.

Apples and crab apples also combine well.

Apple, peach, plum, apricot, nectarine, pear and cherry trees have all proved successful for the three-in-one planting.

IN CASES where pollination is necessary — for example, certain plum, almond and cherry varieties — the proper selection of variety types will provide pollination.

Although combination trees — several fruit varieties budded on to one tree — have proved successful for gardens of limited space, nurserymen today generally recommend Three-in-a-Hole planting as the best means of obtaining several types of fruit in a small area.

To achieve success with this comparatively new planting method, the nurserymen recommend that you follow these steps:

1. DIG A TRIANGULAR hole 2 feet in each direction, 12 to 18 inches deep. Pulverize the soil and add peat moss or compost.
2. Then choose your tree varieties and prune all branches from one side and the lateral branches 2 to 2½ feet above the bud union.
3. Next prune the roots on the same side that you pruned the branches.
4. SET THE TREES in the soil with the bud union two inches above final soil level. Place the trees with their roots and branches facing outward and about 18 inches apart in a triangle.
5. Settle the soil firmly around the roots, leaving room for a basin around the base of the trees than be flooded with water to finally settle the dirt.
6. Water as required, being sure to provide adequate irrigation during the dry season. Plan to fertilize in early June with sulphate of ammonia.
7. And — presto change! In two or three years you and your family will be picking tree-ripe fruit all summer long.

Magnolias Come In Varied Forms

A large and magnificent family, the Magnolia includes deciduous and evergreen varieties in a number of different shapes, sizes and blossom colors.

In general, the deciduous Magnolias are grown in the cold winter locales of California and the evergreens in the warm areas of the state.

Both types of Magnolia do well in Central and Northern coastal areas.

The Magnolia's adaptability to climate locales can be indicated by its native locales — eastern United States, south through Mexico to South America, and in Asia from northern Japan to Java and the Himalayas.

MAGNOLIAS ENJOY a moist, rich, well-drained soil. The best time for planting is now, in early spring.

Take care not to injure the roots when planting, for they are apt to decay; after planting, top dress with a mulch and water faithfully throughout the summer, making sure the water drains through the mulch to the tree roots.

Avoid planting surface-rooting plants around young Magnolias for the Magnolia roots feed both on the surface and at great depths.

Also, do not allow the soil to pack around the roots.

ONCE ESTABLISHED, however, Magnolias will withstand great hardships.

You Can Have Orchard -- Right in Your Own Yard!

Don't be skeptical about planting a backyard orchard because of lack of space or nightmare visions of bugs and diseases.

With smart planning and a few pruning kinks, you can grow healthy, delicious fruit against bare walls, fences and those odd corners you've been wanting to put to use.

And with today's all-purpose garden sprays, worries about common pests and orchard diseases can be a thing of the past.

Today it's possible to obtain easy-to-mix, easy-to-use all-purpose sprays, inexpensive and effective in destroying most of the common pests and orchard diseases.

These sprays contain the proper mixture of chemicals. It's only necessary to mix with water and apply through a convenient sprayer to get the desired results.

1st All America Camellia --Pink, White Cinderella

For the first time an All America Camellia has been selected. It is Cinderella, a shell pink and white Japonica.

Cinderella was given the honor of being the first All America Camellia after five years of consideration and test growing by the All America Camellia Society, formed seven years ago.

GROWN FOR THREE years in test gardens throughout the nation's Camellia belts — Oregon, California, Washington, Virginia, Georgia, South Carolina, Louisiana and Mississippi, Cinderella was named the first All America selection by the AACs two years later and is now available to Camellia fanciers everywhere.

The plant of Cinderella grows slowly in a compact, bushy manner. It blooms very freely and the flowers are semi-double, the petals, very ruffled and serrated. Cinderella blooms in March.

CARE FOR THE Cinderella Camellia as you do other Japonica Camellias — use peat and leaf mold, provide sufficient moisture and a shady location.

Cinderella has been found to be very hardy to cold, growing well in all the Camellia areas of California.

There's a place for the new All America Camellia Cinderella in every California garden; ask for it at your local nursery.

Clematis Vines Have Many Uses

The uses to which vines can be put in a California garden are many, and certainly one of the most purposeful and attractive vines for planting is the Clematis.

Though the Clematis family is composed of some 230 species, the group suitable for California planting is composed of eight species, seven of these deciduous.

The single evergreen species is the well-known Clematis armandi, which is fast-growing to 20 feet.

ITS FOLIAGE is dark, glossy green, and the star-like flowers, blooming in March and April, glisten white.

The armandi starts growing slowly and must be trained every week at first so that new tendrils will not entwine themselves.

Plant this Clematis species along fence tops or use it to accent a line of the house or the entrance.

CLEMATIS JACKMANI is an extremely hardy grower but can be easily controlled.

Purple flowers appear from July on. Prune the jackmani severely for the flowers bloom on new wood; when the buds begin to swell in early spring, cut back to within two joints of the base of new growth made in the previous season.

Hybrids of the jackmani are Mme. Andre, with velvety red flowers, and Ramona, bearing large lavender-blue flowers.

THE LARGE violet-blue flowers of the C. lawsoniana species recommend it to California gardeners, and its offspring henryi, with large white flowers, is well worth cultivating too.

The henryi is a good choice for tracery on a trellis or frame.

There are several other important hybrids of the Clematis: Crimson Star, rich red; Nelly Moser, mauve with red bars; Prince Hendrick, orchid blue; and The President, plum purple.

New Checklist Offers Advice

There are latest pointers from your Garden Checklist:

1. Gladiolus can be planted at two-week intervals to provide a succession of bloom.
2. Start spraying roses at regular intervals to keep them free of aphids and mildew.
3. Apples and pears should be sprayed at the time the petals fall, to keep the worms out of the fruits. DDT or Aresnate of Lead is recommended.
4. Disbud roses if you want large, perfect show blooms. Leave only the terminal bud on each shoot.
5. Spring flowering trees and shrubs should be pruned as soon as they have finished flowering.

Delphinium, Primrose Are Both Favorites

Few perennials are as stately as the Pacific Giant Delphinium hybrids or as adaptable as the Polyantha Primrose.

These garden favorites can be planted now and they will give blooms throughout the spring and summer and for several years to come.

Both flowers should be planted in rich soil. The Delphinium grows best in full sun in cool summer areas and partial shade where summers are hot.

DELPHINIUM should be planted in neutral or alkaline soil with good drainage. In planting, do not cover the crown and do not let water settle around it.

Stake the Pacific hybrids at planting time, for they grow to 8 feet and their spikes are loaded with flowers of white, pink, lavender, pale blue, deep blue and blackish blue.

Fertilize Delphinium during early blooming. They will give several periods of bloom throughout the flowering season. Immediately after the first flowering the plants should be cut back to 8 or 12 inches of stem.

AS NEW GROWTH appears remove the old stem; as the second bloom begins fertilize again and cut again after bloom. Mulch the Delphinium beds with straw in cold winter areas.

Polyantha Primroses are hybrids and they were first developed in the 1700s and are still being worked on.

These Primrose produce their flowers on stiff sturdy stems rising 6 to 12 inches above a rosette of fuzzy green leaves. The Primrose flowers in lavender, rose, red, pink.

PLANT PRIMROSES in a soil rich with humus and spread the humus as a mulch over the young plants to keep them cool in summer, warm in winter.

Divide the clumps every other year, wash the eight to 10 divisions that have formed and cut back roots to 4 inches and replant immediately. Do this after the blooming period.

4 Chosen as All America Gladiolus

Four beautifully colored Gladioli have been named the All America Gladiolus of 1957. They are Caribbean, Maytime, Royal Stewart and Appleblossom.

These new All America selections illustrate beautifully the appeal of the Gladiolus, a bulb flower that if planted in acceptable soil will shoot up skyward and crown itself in a long spike of brilliant color.

Caribbean is blue-violet, like the body of water for which it is named. Its flowers or florets have from planting also but grows a little shorter than Caribbean.

A top winner among Gladiolus is Royal Stewart, which is a light red; it grows to a tall 5 feet with as many as 12 big florets open at one time.

The fourth All America Gladiolus of this year is Appleblossom which, as its name implies, is showy white with a faint touch of cream in the throat and rose pink on the petal edges. It will also grow to 5 feet, with eight or 10 florets on each stalk.

These Two Shrubs Are Easy to Grow

Easy to grow and easily two of the most attractive deciduous foundation shrubs for California gardens are the Spiraea, commonly called Bridal Wreath, and the Weigela.

The Bridal Wreath is available in several handsome varieties, one of which is the popular Anthony Waterer.

This variety begins its bloom in June, when most of the other Spiraeas have finished, and continues into fall. It is low-growing, 2 to 3 feet tall, with rosy-red flowers. Because of its size, the Anthony Waterer is often used as a perennial type plant in flower borders.

TALLER GROWING (to 6 feet) the Spiraea prunifolia plena is usually called Bridal Wreath. Its dark green leaves turn red in the fall and the small white flowers appear in early spring.

Other Spiraea varieties popular in California include Reeves Spiraea (S. cantoniensis), S. thunbergii and S. vanhouttei, which is the most commonly planted variety. These three grow from 5 to 8 feet tall and in spring their branches are covered with white flowers.

The Weigela is hardy in all areas of the state and requires no special care except pruning, which is necessary to have a good looking shrub.

WEIGELA FLORIDA grows to 8 or 10 feet tall. Its arching branches have dark green leaves and pink to red, funnel-shaped flowers in May and June.

A variegation of this bears cream and green spotted foliage. Bristol Ruby and Eva Rathke are name varieties popular for their deep red flowers. Eva Rathke grows low, 3 to 4 feet in height, and blooms later than most Weigelas.

TRAFFIC DEATHS

Traffic fatalities in California during 1956 totaled 3804, reports the California State Automobile Association.

Junior College to Hold Open House on April 28

East Contra Costa Junior College will hold its sixth annual Open House for the public on April 28 in observance of National Public Schools Week.

All classrooms and buildings will be open — including the new $260,000 Student Activities Building, dedicated and the college. Visitors will see progress on the gymnasium now under construction, and recently made grounds improvements.

Several exhibits are planned illustrating education programs. There will be other exhibits and demonstrations of student activities.

College students will be official hosts for the exhibits. Faculty members will be available for conversation with guests on the college curriculum and on the progress of individual students. Light refreshments will be served.

College Director Karl O. Drexel said today that the purpose of open house is to strengthen ties between parents, alumni, the interested public and the college, including the staff and members of the district governing board.

The college is now in its seventh year of operation. For the last five years it has occupied its permanent 100-acre campus on Golf Links Road off Contra Costa Highway. For the first two years the college occupied temporary quarters in Martinez.

From an initial registration of 250 students in 1950, the full-time day population has grown to 1200 and the part-time student enrollment to more than 2,500.

Glenn Paulson Takes Taxpayer Group Top Job

Glenn Paulson, past president of the West Contra Costa Board of Realtors, has been appointed by County Taxpayers Association directors to succeed J. B. Corrie as a director in the commercial classification from the Richmond area.

Paulson has had experience in civic work from the Board of Realtors, the Richmond Chamber of Commerce, the Richmond Rotary Club and other service and civic organizations.

Mr. Paulson will run for election to the Board of Directors in October, 1957.

High Level Campaign for Easter Seals is Told

State Senator George Miller Jr., Contra Costa County's 1957 Easter Seal chairman, took some of the wraps off plans for the campaign for funds in a statement issued recently.

Miller predicted that this year's drive will be the most extensive in the county's history.

He promised county residents that no pressure tactics and no telephone or door-to-door solicitations will be employed during the campaign.

"WE WANT people to give voluntarily to the Easter Seal Society because they want to help crippled children," he said.

Miller declared that the local campaign will be conducted in conformity with the principles underlying the national Easter Seal appeal. He listed these principles as follows:

1. The Easter Seal Society believes that it must maintain sound programs of the highest professional character and integrity in order to justify support.

2. The Society believes that every person should have the opportunity to select voluntarily the charitable organizations which he wishes to support, on the basis of his own interests and the accomplishments of the organization.

3. THE SOCIETY believes that those who contribute to it are entitled to regular reports on its aims, accomplishments and financial operations.

4. The Society will use volunteers to do its work whenever possible, thus saving more money for services to the handicapped, but the Society recognizes that volunteers can make their greatest contribution only when they work under the direction of professional personnel.

5. The Society will designate individuals to serve as sponsors of the Easter Seal campaign only when they believe in, stand for and wish to speak for aid to the crippled and have first indicated their willingness to serve.

6. CRIPPLED persons must not be used in fund-raising programs in any way that is detrimental to them or in violation of sound professional practice or good taste.

7. The Easter Seal Society will not employ the following fund raising methods: telephone solicitations, payment of commissions for fund raising, mailing of unordered tickets or merchandise, events in which a private promoter retains a portion of the proceeds; illegal events or activities offensive to public morals.

Included in the local campaign, according to Miller, will be the traditional mail campaign, the use of containers in places of business, and a Lily Parade will be conducted in each community in April.

The appeal opened March 15 and will extend through April 21.

Rams Take Measure of Knights, 4 to 1

Pleasant Hill Leads League After 3 in Row

Coach Lyle Palmer's Pleasant Hill Rams added another win to their growing list when they took the measure of the Las Lomas Knights at Walnut Creek Tuesday afternoon, 4-1.

The win gave the Rams three in a row in league play and tops in league standings by virtue of their undefeated record.

It was a nip and tuck ball game for three innings as neither club got in scoring distance.

THE PICTURE changed in the fourth, however.

Jerry Silva led off for the Rams and struck out. Second Baseman Jack Ulrich hit to the Knights' second baseman, Bob Morris, and when Morris booted the ball, trouble was on its way.

Shortstop Bill Dutton doubled on a clothesline drive to left center, with Ulrich scoring.

THIRD BASEMAN Gary Scott flew out to center. Then First Baseman Bill Locatelli hit to First Baseman Bob Riley, and when Riley misjudged the ball, Locatelli was safe and Dutton was in with run number 2.

In the sixth, Dutton, who rolled to third when Bill Locatelli singled.

Locatelli stole second. When Stu Robinson pinch hit for Bob Brandes, he hit a roller to third, and when the toss home was high and wide, Dutton scored.

In the seventh, Al Locatelli walked, went to second on Silva's sacrifice bunt and came home when the pitcher threw to second and the ball went into the outfield when no one covered.

LAS LOMAS SCORED in the fifth after leadoff man Morris grounded out, second to first. Pitcher Don Hopkins walked, as did Centerfielder Doug Potter. Catcher Dick Dodge hit a drive to left center, to score Hopkins.

Dodge was the losers' top stickler, getting a pair of singles in four times at bat.

Bill Locatelli had two singles in four tries for the Rams.

In the hit column the Rams had the edge, 4-3, while in errors the Knights led where it hurt the most, 5-1.

Knight Swimmers Place Second In Meet Away

The Las Lomas High Swim Team met Castlemont of Oakland and Mr. Diablo of Concord in a three way swimming meet at Castlemont March 27.

Castlemont was the victor in both "A" and "JV" classes. The Knights took second in both classes and Mt. Diablo third.

Jack Strand of Las Lomas in taking a first in the 100 yard backstroke, Class "A" event, set a new pool record in the time of 1:04.2.

IN THE MEET the majority of firsts were won by Castlemont High School.

Other Las Lomas winners were Tim Biggs in the "A" 100 yard freestyle and Jerry Hunt in the "JV" 100 yard backstroke. The Knights Class "A" medley and freestyle relay teams also won their races.

The diving which was judged by the father of two time Olympic Diving Champion, Zoe Olson, was won by Castlemont.

The final score of the meet and the individual results are as follows:

Antioch Nine Stings Knights

The Las Lomas baseball team ran into a hornet's nest March 28 when they met a hard-hitting Antioch club at Antioch.

Antioch put on a four-run outburst in the opening inning and was never in trouble as they went on to notch the win 12-3.

Three successive homers were hit by Catcher Doug West, First Baseman Bob Lawrence and Shortstop Rally Rounselle.

ANTIOCH ADDED three runs in the third, one in the fourth, three in the fifth — and then Third Baseman Art Agoli hit his third homer of the season to account for the final run in the sixth.

Rounselle paced Antioch's hitting attack with three safeties.

LAS LOMAS culled two runs in the fourth and one in the top of the seventh, to round out the afternoon's scoring.

Antioch posted 12 runs, 11 hits and no errors.

Las Lomas had three runs, five hits and no errors.

Lafayette Youth Baseball Gets Ready for 1957

The Lafayette Youth Association baseball program is under way.

At a meeting of parents, held at Stanley School last week, plans of the 1957 season were revealed.

In anticipation of 350 young baseball players turning out this year, an increase of some 80 boys over the previous year, it was announced that the program has been divided into three categories—the Minor League, made up of 9 and 10 year olds; the Major League, composed of 11 and 12 year old boys, and the 13 through 15-year-olds, who will make up the Inter-Lafayette Babe Ruth League.

ONE OTHER TEAM will be formed, however, and that will be those older boys who will represent the Lafayette Youth Association, in the County Babe Ruth League.

This team will be under the joint management of two of the finest youth coaches in the area, Al Nelson and "Red" Gillham.

Those who are serving as commissioners of the various leagues this year are Bob Klitgard, Minors; Jim Pangburn, Majors, and "Red" Gillham, Babe Ruth Leagues. Coach Erwin Mattson of Acalanes High School will work with each of the commissioners.

HANDLING the finances this year will be Joseph Salvo, an accountant with the Telephone Company. Edmund Barnett will again serve as legal advisor.

Stanley Bell, Bob Sanderson and Gordon McNulty will act as coordinators of the program.

While sign-up slips were passed throughout the Lafayette School, eventually some youngsters did not receive them, or they became lost. Inasmuch as such slips should be turned in by Sunday, a limited supply is on hand at 1604 Locust Street, Walnut Creek, and McNulty will pass them out as long as they last.

THE FIRST TURNOUT for all boys will be on Saturday, April 13, at the Acalanes High School baseball diamond. Fathers or other interested persons who may wish to aid the program this year are invited to turn out also at that time.

The exact time for such turnout will be announced within the next few days.

Devils Trounce Panthers In Nifty 6-0 League Win

The Diablo Red Devils lost their league opener to Pleasant Hill, but have bounced back to top three in a row and stay hot on the trail of the league-leading Rams.

Tuesday afternoon the Devils played host to the highly rated Antioch Panthers and proceeded to combine top-flight pitching and clutch hitting to wrap up a nifty 6-0 league win.

Diablo Coach Carl Anacleiro sent his ace righthander, Rod Atnip, to the mound, and Atnip proved to be in rare form as he set the opposition down with a measly two hits while striking out 13.

THE DEVILS collected but six safeties of their own, but got them when they counted most, to register an even hat-trick in Jones and Liggett. That made 3-0, and that's the way it stayed when Shortstop Art Pergament struck out.

Atnip had Antioch well in check, and when Diablo added a pair of runs in the fifth on a hit, two walks and an error, it was apparent that Antioch's goose was cooked — and on the well-done side.

THE DEVILS SCORED again in the sixth when Stone was safe on an error, went to second on a pass ball and romped home with a tally when Atnip added insult to injury with a well-hit single.

Liggett had a good day for the Devils, getting a pair of singles in four tries at the plate. Stafford also had a pair, with a single and a triple in a like number of tries.

Diablo had two errors; Antioch, four. In the hit column, Diablo won 6-4.

Batteries — Diablo: Atnip-Stafford. Antioch: McKimmy, Rebstock (4), Lawrence (6) and West.

LEFTFIELDER Jim Liggett

single to right, and when the fielder booted the ball, Atnip scored.

Catcher Dave Stafford, last year's All County selection, was next at bat and came through with a booming triple, bringing in Jones and Liggett. That made 3-0, and that's the way it stayed when Shortstop Art Pergament struck out.

Trette Pulls Muscle--Diablo Cause May Suffer

By ERWIN MATTSON

IT'S NEWS — good for the opposition but not for Diablo track fans, who had visions of their third county track title in a row — that the Devils' ace sophomore sprinter, Al Trette, pulled a muscle Tuesday afternoon.

Trette pulled the muscle while practicing starts, and only time will tell when he will be ready to go again.

The county meet figures to be close this year, with Diablo, Acalanes and Pittsburg in the running.

Much will depend on how men are placed in the county meet. Shifting of personnel can and probably will be a vital factor.

In several events, such as the shot, discus, pole vault and high jump, the marks are so close it will depend on who has the best day.

If Trette is unable to go or to be at his best, the Diablo cause could be hurt not end with loss of points in sprints and the relay.

VERY FEW BASKETBALL players from the local Contra Costa prep area have ever gone on to play college basketball.

One of the outstanding ones was Bill Higgins, who went to Diablo and graduated from there in 1925.

An all-around athlete starring in football, basketball and base ball, Bill went on to the University of California at Berkeley.

An interesting sidelight — Bill went to high school by commuting on the Sacramento Northern Railroad. His home was in Bay Point, now referred to as Port Chicago.

On occasion Bill rode to school via the bicycle, and on other occasions he hitch-hiked home after games. The hitch-hiking involved a good deal of walking, as cars weren't nearly as numerous in those days.

Bill's first love was baseball, but when he went to Cal he went out for basketball, and was so good at it that he never got around to baseball. He became team captain and an All-Pacific Coast player, and later played club ball.

Later he went into golf and became a champion in his own right, and today is a top man in that sport. Especially is he widely known at the Orinda and Diablo Country Clubs, where he has won many a tourney.

He presently lives in Happy Valley in Lafayette.

I know all this because I lived across the street from Bill while going to grade school, high school and college. He was four years ahead of me and was one of the school athletes every kid looked up to.

If you know Bill, you know what I mean — if you don't know him, you should meet him, because he is a great guy in every way.

DIABLO LOOMS as a growing power in baseball. Coach Carl Anacleiro has brought the Devils along, tying for the championship last year. They're definitely in the running this year.

In Marshall, Atnip and Licht, Anacleiro has the best 1-2-3 pitching staff in the circuit, and while the Devils trail Pleasant Hill by one game in the standings at this writing, don't bet too much that they won't still wind up in the top spot.

Concord, home town of the Devils, has always been a good baseball town. They always have a town team playing the hardball game and they have a good number of adult rosters following the high school club.

County baseball is good this year, and an all-star team could hold its own with any local circuit you care to choose.

Knights Splash To Swim Win

In the Bee meet the Las Lomas Knights wound up with 60; Alameda, 32, and Oakland, 17.

Sapphire Arch Members Busy On Holiday Fair

Already at work on its contributions to next autumn's "Holiday Fair," set for November 1 at the Hotel Claremont, is the Arch of Sapphires of Herrick Hospital Guild. Most of the members of this group live in the Orinda-Lafayette-Walnut Creek area, and all are wives of doctors of the Herrick Medical Staff.

Many of the members of this young Arch of the Herrick Guild "Crown of Jewels" are the mothers of small children, and have the special interests of children at heart in their auxiliary work for the hospital.

Their efforts for the Holiday Fair have young folks as a theme, too — they are creating gay little toys, making children's play aprons and other things to delight the small fry.

CO-CHAIRMAN of the Holiday Fair committee are Mrs. Hyzer Jones Jr. and Mrs. Paul Winquist, both of Orinda.

New 1957 officers took over their duties at the first affair of the year, a morning coffee party at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Donald E. Walker in Orinda a few weeks ago. Officers are Mrs. Kendall Caldwell, Lafayette, president; Mrs. Hyzer Jones Jr., Orinda, vice-president; Mrs. W. Ray Poindexter, Orinda, treasurer; Mrs. Carl Ehrlich, Orinda, secretary.

Committee chairmen are: Membership, Mrs. Samuel Smith, Lafayette; ways and means, Mrs. Donald E. Walker, Orinda; stamps, Mrs. Fred Patching, Orinda; publicity, Mrs. Donald R. Kennedy, Lafayette.

TWO NEW MEMBERS were added recently to the Sapphires' number: Mrs. Kenneth Dod, Berkeley, and Mrs. Joseph Lifschultz of Walnut Creek.

Other members include Mrs. John Bouleware, Mrs. Robert Johnson and Mrs. Donald Minkler of Orinda; Mrs. Herbert C. Enos and Mrs. James Gordon Holmes of Lafayette, and Mrs. G. B. Lewis and Mrs. Byron Nestor of Berkeley.

Profits of the Holiday Fair, in which all members of the Arches and sororities of the Guild cooperate, benefit the hospital's program of community service.

Student-Teacher Training Aims to Fill School Need

Today more than one million men and women in the United States are teachers. Despite the fact that it is the largest single profession in the nation, it is still not big enough to handle soaring school enrollments.

In California alone, school enrollment will have grown from one million pupils in 1947 to four million students by 1965. According to the California State Department of Education, this means an average of 15,000 new teachers a year will be needed in California through 1966.

National figures are even worse. Within the next three years nationally 130,000 teachers — 80,000 elementary and 50,000 high school instructors — will have found somewhere.

MANY BAY AREA teacher associations are carrying out recruitment programs that encourage high school students about to enter college to consider the teaching profession.

As a part of this program of teacher recruitment, teachers in the Alacanes Education Association, teacher organization for instructors employed by the Alacanes High School District, have organized a future teachers club, the Alacanes Education Club, on the high school campus.

The Alacanes Education Club is an affiliate of the California Education Clubs sponsored for statewide high school students by the California Teachers Association. PRIMARY PURPOSE of the Alacanes Education Club (AEC) is to give club members a chance to do some first-hand observing and gain minimal, but actual, experience in front of a classroom.

In cooperation with Lafayette Elementary District teachers at the nearby Springhill Elementary School, Alacanes Education Club faculty advisors have arranged for Alacanes High School students to work with elementary teachers as assistant student-teachers. Some high school students work on the same basis with the Alacanes faculty in secondary school classes.

AS TEACHING ASSISTANTS, future teacher club members get an opportunity to understand requirements for the profession; an insight into the behind-the-scenes routines of teaching; experience in dealing with pupils, parents and teachers; an opportunity to assume, with supervision, adult responsibilities; a chance to decide whether they prefer working in an elementary or a high school, or whether or not teaching is for them.

Each student spends about an hour a day for three weeks as a teaching assistant.

Eleven Alacanes students, 10 girls and one boy, are currently working with elementary instructors at Springhill.

IN EVALUATING both the positive and negative aspects of the program, Alacanes Education Club faculty advisor Richard Mayes observed:

"A few students find that the demands on teachers—hours, work load, lesson planning and paper correcting, pay, etc., are not for them. These students have saved themselves a lot of time that might have been wasted in college in preparation for a job for which they would eventually find themselves unsuited."

Stanley Walgren, Alacanes High School principal, and Mrs. Elenore Diehl, Springhill Elementary principal, report that most of the high school students in the teaching-assistant program are "not only enthusiastic about teaching, but more certain than ever that the experience gained as teaching-assistants provided a turning point in their decision on a vocation."

TEACHERS WHO are sponsoring future teacher recruitment programs such as the joint effort at Alacanes High and Springhill Elementary hope that education clubs and experience-observation programs will help make "some dent in the terrific teacher shortage that has already started to hit the nation's school rooms."

Alacanes students in the student-teaching program this semester are:

Sherill Lerari, Gail Dinwiddie, Carolyn Coffee, Penny Wolf, Lou Ogden, George Schornick, Mariann Macy, Betty Clark, Jan Everson, Sandra Boyer, Velma Young.

Suspension May Be Good for Child

Suspension from school is good for little Johnny — sometimes — says a psychiatrist.

Dr. Byron Nestor of Berkeley told 200 Contra Costa educators at a guidance workshop Wednesday in Walnut Creek that suspension can be beneficial to the child if it helps the parents face the seriousness of the problem.

He added, however, that exclusion should be decided only after a careful consideration of the case by the school administration and guidance personnel.

Dr. Nestor is director of the children's services at the Berkeley Mental Hygiene Clinic. His address on the emotional problems of children followed afternoon panel and group discussions and a dinner, held at Parkmead School.

The workshop, the second this year, will probably be succeeded by others next year, according to Miss Julia Combs, chairman.

Others participating in the program were County Superintendent B. O. Wilson and Samuel Bradbard of Pleasant Hill, president of the Contra Costa County Board of Education, who spoke briefly. Also representing the county board were Mrs. Lucille Maury of Walnut Creek and Mrs. Frances Adams of El Sobrante.

Jewish Women Planning Seder

The fifth annual seder service and dinner in celebration of the Passover will be held at the Jewish Community Center Building in Lafayette on Wednesday evening, April 17, at 7 p.m.

The seder is being sponsored by the League of Jewish Women, and the dinner, consisting of all the traditional Passover foods, will be catered by Goodman's, of Oakland.

"In years past the members of the League have prepared their own traditional seder dinners, but now that the community has grown so large, we have decided this year to have the dinner catered. This will be the first time that we have had a catered affair," said Mrs. Amos Leffler of Lafayette, chairman.

The traditional seder is a feast for families at which time the elders retell the ancient and wonderful story of the Jewish exodus from Egypt and the miraculous deliverance from slavery and oppression. This year the story is a particularly meaningful one.

City, School District Show Excellent Economy Example

If you are like almost everybody else in Contra Costa County—and in the United States today, you have found that prices are steadily rising, and that the dollar doesn't seem to purchase what it used to.

Much of this increase in the cost of living is reflected in the budget of the many political subdivisions which serve us—our school, fire and sanitary districts and city governments.

It is as refreshing as a breath of cool wind on a hot day to find an example of real economy among these districts—an example of the kind of thinking and action which saves the taxpayer thousands of dollars and serves as an example for possible similar action on the part of other districts and communities.

The example is the recent agreement of the Mt. Diablo School District to do the purchasing for the City of Concord.

This agreement, although it sounds simple, is a great step towards an economy that can be far reaching in the county.

Although it is too early yet to tell exactly what this amalgamation of purchasing power will save the City of Concord—and the Mt. Diablo School District, too—it is bound to be considerable simply because of the greater efficiency and purchasing power of the two units.

Using the Concord-Mt. Diablo purchasing plan as an example, why could the Alacanes School District not do the purchasing for the City of Walnut Creek—or the Walnut Creek School District?

Why could not all these districts "get together" for the purpose of purchasing items that are used commonly by all?

Dr. Owen Cook, business manager for the Mt. Diablo Unified School District, explained to his board of trustees that by working with Concord "supplies could be purchased at a cheaper rate, and would allow for a great deal of savings."

Why could not the Orinda Fire District and the Lafayette Fire District get together and lump their purchasing power and their needs?

These savings work, not only for pencils and paper clips, but for gasoline, trucks and cars.

The ideal solution, of course, would be to have one central purchasing agent for all allied districts, thereby cutting the individual purchasing cost to the minimum.

The county purchasing office could perform this service if it could actually save the districts money. However, some time ago a check of the relative prices being paid by the county and by an individual school district showed that in one particular case the county was paying 600 per cent above the price the school district was paying for scissors.

But there is no reason why all interested districts could not form one encompassing special district for the sole purpose of handling their purchasing.

Such a district would not levy a tax, and would have no powers other than administrative. It would take agreement by all districts concerned as to the appointment of the purchasing director and his staff.

Such a district could be formed by agreement of the participating districts, and would not need a general vote.

Thus there are several solutions to the high costs of administering and providing for the special districts which serve us as citizens.

Any improvement, such as consolidation of purchasing power, may seem like a small thing, but it is an improvement, and it is a step toward controlling cost and saving the taxpayer money.

No private business could last for long if its purchasing and control of its dollars were not carefully controlled and administered in the most economical method possible.

Each of us, as homeowners, would find ourselves in sad shape if we did not control our buying and see that our dollars go as far as possible.

Therefore, it is a real pleasure to see two areas get together for the benefit of the people they serve. The Mt. Diablo School District and the City of Concord are to be congratulated for working out a mutually acceptable method of combining their purchasing power.

Other districts in the county should take notice of this practice and this example and attempt to work out their own solutions.

What They Say...

Where Can We Put Them?

The steady rise of population in California has been a subject for discussion for many years. Planning commissions from San Diego to the Oregon border have made efforts from time to time to cope with an influx of people which in some cases has caught California unprepared.

In our own area plans for such things as "urban development" have been formulated, discussed, debated and generally tossed into the Bendix. Some of the results are visible, some not.

At any rate, the influx of population into the area continues unabated. More and more people, it seems, want to live here. Which is very complimentary. However, where are we going to put them?

What with zoning restrictions, building costs, and the mixed blessings of "rural living," which isn't always as "gracious" as the magazines picture, a goodly number of people have found it difficult to settle in our communities.

Projected population figures for this area run into near-astronomical numbers within the next ten years. Practically none of these future residents will be living in tents or trailers. At least, they aren't planning on it.

Improvement associations, builders, realtors, tract developers and planning commissions are doing their best to meet the demands.

However, at present there seems to be a goodly amount of work to be done in the matter of building new homes.

We asked some of the local citizenry whether they thought the construction of homes and development of subdivisions in this area was sufficient to cope with the demands. They answered as follows:

MRS. JOSEPH A. CONNOR, 3898 Happy Valley Road, Lafayette: "I'm really not qualified to answer that question. There seems to be many homes being built wherever you go."

GLEN C. SMITH, 68 Stanton Avenue, Orinda: "The needs are always met in time in any healthy community. This is a pretty healthy community, so I think the demands will be fulfilled."

MRS. ROSS CONNELL, 3756 Highland Road, Lafayette: "In some ways they are, and in some ways they are not. There could be a lot more building. We looked for over a year before we found what we wanted. I think people would appreciate a little more variety in home styling."

MRS. DANA G. LEAVITT, 530 Miner Road, Orinda: "More custom homes are definitely needed. Orinda is not set up for tracts or subdivisions."

MRS. AUSTIN BRYANT, 2349 San Juan Avenue, Walnut Creek: "I think so."

MRS. HARRY NEED, 119 Kendall Road, Walnut Creek: "From the number of houses for sale I would think that the need is being fairly well met. I know that money for the building program is too tight but I don't think that it is the fault of the building and loan people."

MRS. KAY WORDEN, 533 Shelly Drive, Pleasant Hill: "I think that building is keeping up with population needs. I'm a recent mover from San Francisco who used to think that 'out here' was way out in the country, but I don't think so now with all the construction that's going on."

MRS. EDITH ERVIN, 1003 Esther Drive, Pleasant Hill: "I don't know if I'm qualified to answer the question, but I believe that we need more homes."

School Board Contests Inspire Looks-Ahead

This is unquestionably a fast age in which we live — what with people always on the move, running here, running there. Many are running for offices — not only because they are late for work, but because some of them are interested in politics.

In our communities School Board elections are coming up. That school board deal is one that appears to have many interesting and tempting possibilities — especially in the world of child psychology, where punishment is frowned upon by some, and where current teaching methods are considered by some to be above reproach.

From happy weed to maturity? My sympathy is with the child of today who somehow is expected to grow like a happy little weed and then is expected overnight to mature into a magnificent, well-adjusted adult, complete with manners, self-discipline and a thorough understanding of the Golden Rule. These, it is assumed, he will learn by himself through experiences.

As I see it, the handwriting is already on the wall. (Probably some child put it there during recess.)

Won't it be something in the years to come when the troublesome adults will have to sit behind the driver of the monorail on their way to work? Just like their "good old days" on the school bus!

Repertee spiced with nostalgia And how about the office? The boss will say, "McNutt, your work is terrible these days. What's the matter with you, boy?" And McNutt will answer, "Shut up, Fatso. You ain't the whole show, you know."

Then everybody in the office will laugh like crazy. These will be moments filled with nostalgia.

The dainty little secretaries will be required to spell such words as "cataclysmic" and the boss will have to include a picture of a cat. Thus, she will be able to get started, anyway...

Why send them to their rooms? A nationally known personality recently put it this way:

"What can you do with the kids of today when you are going to punish them? Send them to their rooms? Why? Nowadays their rooms are full of Hi-Fi sets, complete record albums, their own TV sets and a case of coke."

So, in the School Board elections, may the best candidates win. Whoever gets elected will be faced with the situation so aptly described by Sam Levenson, the TV gag-man who gave up teaching for the stage:

"Today the teacher is afraid of the principal, the principal is afraid of the superintendent. The superintendent is afraid of the school board, and the school board is afraid of the parents. The parents are afraid of the kids, and the kids — they aren't afraid of anybody."

Fitch Paintings Current Display At St. Mary's

The transient exhibit of contemporary art currently at St. Mary's Keith Gallery through June 2 consists of thirteen landscapes and five portraits by Jewel Fitch.

The landscapes are full of the brightness, brilliancy, and vitality of nature. They are done in a free and strong technique.

Seven show the grandeur of Glacier National Park; two the luxurious splendor of Hawaii; one is of the Oregon Coast and one of the Oregon Desert; another of Arizona Desert under a sublime golden sunset.

The five portraits show strong and decisive brush work and reflect various aspects of the pathos of life.

Mrs. Fitch was born in Mt. Hope, Washington. She studied art under Mrs. Perry in Spokane and under D. Howard Hitchcock in Honolulu; she also took night extension courses at the University of Washington.

She has exhibited mainly at the civic centers of Montana: Butte, Anaconda, Cut Bank, Great Falls and Shelby.

She now teaches art and music in various places in Contra Costa County. Her home is at 1359 Laguna Street, Concord.

The Keith Gallery is open to the public on all Sundays of the scholastic year from 2 to 4 p.m.

Indonesian Heard By Air Reserve

Walnut Creek's 9441st Air Reserve Squadron listened to a discussion of Indonesian Geopolitics recently at its regular meeting.

Leading the discussion was Mohammed Sudit, former assistant to Indonesia's Minister of Finance and currently a lecturer at the University of California.

On April 11 the 9441st will host 9080th Reserve Squadron in its first annual Reserve Center Meeting.

Students in chemistry and physics at Alacanes High School have been bracing their understanding of problems in science and their classroom work by evening meetings with outstanding scientists for discussions on fields of study.

Sixty-five Alacanes chemistry and physics students met with Dr. Isadore Perlman earlier this year for a discussion of radio activity.

The last meeting of the student science group was briefed on molecular structure concepts by Dr. George Pimental.

FUTURE MEETINGS are planned on chemical kinetics, with Dr. Richard Powell, and photosynthesis with Dr. Melvin Calvin. Approximately ten evening meetings with leaders in science are planned for members of the Alacanes Science Club by school science department chairman, Miss Margaret Nicholson.

The sessions for high school students are arranged through the American Chemical Society. A society member serves as consultant for a high school science department and assists the teachers in securing materials and special programs.

Dr. Perlman, professor at the University of California, and internationally recognized scientist, is the society's consultant for Alacanes High School.

ACALANES CHEMISTRY students are currently preparing to enter a Chemical Progress Week Essay Contest "How Chemistry Benefits Me," sponsored by the Chemical Companies of Eastern Contra Costa County. The student with the best essay will receive a $50 savings bond.

Letters to The Editor

TAXES

Dear Editor:

Many of us are concerned about the high taxes today and what is causing them. We would like to feel that something is being done, but cannot.

After talking it over and listening to our public officials, the only plausible conclusion seems to be that nothing is being done to lower taxes.

THE CAUSE is admittedly due to poor and improper tax assessment practices in the past. This area has been developing rapidly, and with that development land has increased tremendously in value (and prices).

The tax assessor has "ignored" idle land, but has been right on hand when land has been improved to put a high assessment on the land and another on the improvement as well. Thus, the burden of developing the community has fallen more and more on the homeowners and businessmen while those who have benefited from the development by reaping the high land values created, have been more and more exempt.

Substantial fortunes have been made here in this county from sale of raw land, yet the assessed values on such land is shockingly low. We might expect the speculators to take advantage of such a situation, and they do.

IT IS EASY to hold land for fabulous prices when you don't have to pay taxes. We might also expect the speculators to encourage the situation from which they benefit for to share in the high tax burden would certainly "spoil the game."

Speculators are skillful propagandists, and we are bombarded by their advertising, speeches, newspaper articles and slogans. They manage to get into public office, and can be found on every board and commission in the county. Here they make their influence felt. The "public relations" activities of each agency helps spread the "word" at our expense.

IMPROVEMENTS raise land values! So we are urged to buy more schools, flood control projects, freeways, public buildings — NOW, the sooner the better. Keep us bonded to the limit! And who should pay? When it is a school, the homeowners have the children. When it is a flood control project, homes and businesses cause floods.

When roads are to be built, let the people who drive on them pay. If no other tax is available, try a sales tax. But don't tax land!

Brother, you can't tax a man off his land!

This message, repeated over and over, helps maintain this absurd tax situation. We are paying the speculator's price for school sites and rights-of-way. The County Planners report difficulty keeping business within the area zoned for it, because businessmen are balking at the high prices of the land. Contractors report that the price of land is so high that people won't buy their houses.

High taxes are only part of the price we pay for poor assessment practices.

WE HAVE BEEN told that a reassessment is under way — and if we can only wait a couple of years, things will be straightened out. Will this really help? Alas, no! For the tax assessor himself is saying, "We can't tax a man off his land" and is applying what might be called a "rubber yardstick" to give an exemption to those who hold mostly land.

Obviously this is just as wrong as ignoring the land during the reassessment.

It's time the taxpayer got a fair deal. All we need are taxes that are fair and equitable. It seems obvious that we will not get them until we demand them. Let's get the tax assessor to say, "We can't tax a man off his home!" That is the spirit we want.

Robert Keen.

Dear Editor,

I am very much in favor of your endorsing individual candidates.

Also would like to compliment you on your efforts to get real progressive action from the county supervisors — keep it up!

You may be interested to know the first section of your paper I turn to is the editorial page. It is very gratifying to find a so-called "small newspaper" that is not afraid to stand up and be counted, no matter what the issue.

Cordially, Wilbur White, 2180 Blackwood Drive, Walnut Creek

Dear Editor,

To you I would like to inquire about a question in my mind as to the safety of our children.

Since we do have such lovely big back yards, should we allow our children to play on the busy thoroughfares and highways of our Cities?

Why can't children become acquainted with each other in their own respective back yards? I think that they can, but some of my neighbors disagree about this.

Mrs. FRANK SCHMITT

VS. ENDORSING

Dear Editor:

The Sun papers should not endorse partisan political candidates.

If the papers begin to do this, the fairness previously shown in other partisan campaigns will have been lost and will be missing in the Sun in future elections.

Dentist Bills Increasing? How About Fluoridation!

By HERMAN SILVERMAN

How are your children's teeth these days? Does your dentist bill look like the national debt?

I pose these questions to introduce today's discussion—the need to have our water supply fluoridated. For years, The Sun has campaigned for the addition of fluorides to our water supply. Fluoridation, endorsed by all major medical, dental and public health groups in the United States, has reduced dental decay as much as 85 to 70 per cent.

Millions of people throughout the nation drink fluoridated water. Over 25 per cent of all people served by public water supplies enjoy the wonderful benefits of fluoridation. More and more water systems are fluoridating each year.

And what about you?

And yet your family and mine are being denied these benefits. (The only exceptions in Central Contra Costa are the lucky residents of Gregory Gardens. The directors of their small water district wisely installed fluoridation several years ago.)

Our two big water suppliers are East Bay Municipal Utility District and California Water Service Company. East Bay Mud has openly resisted fluoridation, hiding behind various legal excuses. These excuses simply do not hold up, because so many water districts and public agencies have been fluoridating for years without legal problems.

The Attorney General of California has ruled that East Bay Mud can fluoridate without additional legislation or even an election within the district. But East Bay Mud has remained adamant and is acting in a high-handed, arbitrary manner.

Assemblyman Don Doyle introduced legislation several years ago to solve East Bay Mud's objections, but the bill was amended to death. I remember calling Don in Sacramento during the session and pointing out that the amended bill was worse than no bill at all. The bill was finally allowed to die.

How about Cal Water Service?

Meanwhile, Cal Water Service has done nothing for or against fluoridation. Recently, pressure has not been brought on Cal Water because of the universal desire to buy out the company.

Now two things have happened to change the fluoridation picture.

In January the California Public Utilities Commission ordered Cal Water Service to fluoridate the water it supplies to Oroville and vicinity. This is a history-making decision — the first ever issued by a state regulatory body directing a privately-owned company to fluoridate.

The decision said that "a review of the record reveals that the preponderance of evidence supports and we hereby find that the injection of fluorides . . . in the company's water supply will promote the health of the customers . . . and will not cause injury to the consumers of such waters."

A newspaper and its community

This decision was the ultimate result of long campaigning by Dan Beebe and his Oroville newspaper. I talked to Mr. Beebe at the recent publishers' convention and he explained that the Oroville city council, county supervisors and other groups backed the fluoridation program. Then, they took it to the P.U.C.

He was certain that the people served by Cal Water in this area can now do the same. The precedent has been set. This would entail endorsements by city councils, supervisors and groups throughout the wide area served by Cal Water — from San Ramon Valley, parts of Walnut Creek, Pleasant Hill, Concord and then east and west.

The important thing is that it can be done — IF YOU want it done.

What about consumers of East Bay Mud water? Well, East Bay Mud could start fluoridating next week, if the directors wanted. But they don't, so we must continue to try to persuade them. Another long-range alternative is to elect directors who are pledged to vote for fluoridation. This is slow, difficult and perhaps not entirely wise. A candidate might favor fluoridation but otherwise might make a poor director.

A brand new approach

Last week something new popped up in the state legislature. Assemblyman S. C. Masterson of Richmond introduced a constitutional amendment that would place East Bay Mud and other publicly-owned utilities under the jurisdiction of the State Public Utilities Commission.

If passed by the legislature and approved at an election of the people, the measure would empower the commission to regulate and fix the rates of EBMud, in the same manner it now controls privately-owned utilities.

Masterson, long a foe of EBMud, said that past hearings prove that EBMud rates could be reduced "at least 25 per cent" under the PUC regulation.

If EBMud were regulated by the state, then the district could be forced to fluoridate, as was Cal Water. Of course, this is a slow, devious method to achieve fluoridation.

At this point I don't know enough facts as to whether or not publicly-owned utilities should be regulated by the state. My snap judgment is that it would be a good idea, as some districts become little dictatorships, unanswerable to the people.

Write a note or letter

Meanwhile, what can you do about fluoridation?

When you pay your water bill, write a note directly on the statement asking for fluoridation. Write your assemblyman and state senator and your water supplier. Speakers and material are available for your organizations. Our county health office can help you.

It may be a long battle — but some day I am certain we will win.

Driver Education Plans Discussed

Alacanes High School Trustees discussed driver education last week with teachers in the driving program.

According to instructors in the Political Education AFL-CIO, is vice-president, and Harry L. Morgan Jr. is secretary-treasurer.

The council is preparing by-laws to govern the action of its board of directors and the proposed program for a general membership meeting to be held in mid-April.

The Board of Directors has prepared a budget of approximately $8000 for this year, of which $6000 will be expended for legal fees to test the validity of the Alameda-Contra Costa Transit District. And $2000 will cover research, publicity and administrative expenses of the Council.

New Transit Council Elect

The Contra Costa Transit Council, Inc., has elected Judge Louis Edmunds of Rodeo as its first president.

George Kelly, committee on Political Education AFL-CIO, is vice-president, and Harry L. Morgan Jr. is secretary-treasurer.
